Italian Prisoners Now Over 20,000 French Hit Crown Prince Hard - British in Bitter Fight

Gen. Cadorna Pressing Steadily Forward to His Objective, Trieste

Army Of Airmen Playing Part In Advance—Sixty Guns Of All Calibres Captured—Many Destroyed—French In Verdun Region Make Another Thrust—Capture Hill 304, Scene Of Some Of Bloodiest Conflicts Of War—Fierce Battle Raging Along Ypres-Menne Road.

(By Morning Bulletin Leased Wire)

LONDON, Aug. 24.—General Cadorna's army is still hard after the Austrians all along the Isonzo and Carso fronts of the Austro-Italian theatre, and, aided by the valiant airmen, who are dropping bombs in great numbers on concentrations behind the enemy lines, has made further progress and taken additional prisoners and war stores. Already in the offensive, not yet a week old, 500 Austrian officers and 20,000 men have been sent behind the Italian lines as prisoners of war, and in the neighborhood of sixty guns of various calibres have been captured in addition to numerous others destroyed by the intensive gun fire of the Italians. On several sectors the enemy has made semblances of offensives, probably hoping to distract the attention of the Italian commander-in-chief from the work he now has in hand. But seemingly there is little likelihood that, for the moment at least, with his army working smoothly and the Austrians unable to withstand the pressure, he is to be diverted from pressing on toward his objective—Trieste.

Although it has been believed the French would rest content with the gains they had made against the Germans in the region of Verdun, Friday saw them again hit the line of the German Crown Prince, and capture the famous Hill 304, the scene of some of the bloodiest conflicts of the war, the Camard Wood and fortified works between the Hautcourt Wood and Bethincourt. The penetration of the German front was at an average depth of one and one quarter miles.

Hard fighting continues between the British and the Germans around Lens in northern France, and Ypres. In Belgium, the Canadians have captured, and now hold, trenches at the southwestern edge of the past, on the position slag heap known as the Green Crater. The position was not captured without the hardest kind of fighting, being taken and retaken several times before it rested securely in the hands of the Canadians. Near Ypres General Haig's forces have met with a slight reverse.

Germans now Driven in on Central Part of Lens are Hourly Subject To Continuous Stream of Shells

By the Canadian Overseas Correspondent.

CANADIAN HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE, Friday, Aug. 24, via London.—The operations about Lens, as time more and more the characteristics of a siege. The city is not entered by our troops, but as a result of the continuous fighting of the past few days in the environs have been driven in upon the thickly built central portion of Lens, which forms a south-western angle of the past, on the position slag heap known as the Green Crater. The position was

The enemy is seeking, by the most desperate fighting to secure more room in the open toward the north and south of the wedge, because at the present time thousands of men who form the garrison of Lens are crowded to remain in cellars, mine galleries and wrecked houses. This we now know from prisoners, who have described the conditions under which the Germans in Lens are now living. Light and day they are in imminent peril from huge shells that fall into the city in a never-ending stream.

Our infantry assaults during the last few days have given us the high ground on the north and west of the city, and with the utmost accuracy, both high explosives and gas can be directed upon the enemy in his crowded quarters. The position is entirely satisfactory. The enemy has never before, on the west front, occupied ground where heavy hourly losses have been inevitable. Yet the Teuton soldiers never fought with greater determination than during the past week.

After the capture of Fosse, St. Louis and Green Crater yesterday, our men discovered a German order, dated the 22nd, saying: "Whatever happens, Fosse, St. Louis and St. Louis is to be held."

AYLESWORTH

DISAPPROVES

DRAFT LAW

Militia Act, He Declares, Is Better As A Last Resort.

(By Morning Bulletin Leased Wire)

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 24.—Sir Allen Aylesworth, former Liberal minister of justice, at a meeting of the Central Liberal association in Forum Hall tonight, came out against conscription. He does not think it will obtain the necessary men for the army, and he believes conscription cannot be enforced unless the sentiment of the country is behind it. He said: "A general election cannot be avoided. Before the end of the year each of us voters here in Toronto has to make up his mind on the conscription question. For myself, because my heart is in the war, I don't believe conscription could ever produce for Canada the results I want. It would be a bad thing. If, therefore, my road to the road of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, if voluntary recruiting fails we have the militia act, better as a last resort than the new act, absolutely foredoomed to failure if ever tried."

FRENCH PRESS

LAUDS WORK

OF CANADIANS

Glowing Tributes By Le Petit

Parisien And Echo de Paris.

(By Morning Bulletin Leased Wire)

PARIS, Aug. 24. (Via Reuters' Ottawa Agency).—The newspapers of the French capital all pay glowing tributes to the splendid work of the Canadian troops. Le Petit Parisien says: "If it were known what human misery, abnegation and self-sacrifice were involved in those 1,300 metres of trenches recently captured by the Canadians in this corner of Hell, in which every German soldier fought like a wild beast, the people would be touched and thrilled. An enemy officer remarked of the Canadians: 'Only once have I known a class of soldiers as brave and thoroughly trained, namely, von Kluck's men in 1914.'"

The correspondent of Petit Parisien points out that it is noteworthy that all prisoners, even the officers, declare the war is nearing its close because Germany is at the end of her resources. The Echo de Paris correspondent writes: "The Kaiser's song of hate against Great Britain has taken on new borders on the comic. In his address to the German troops massed on the Yser front, his language, compared with the harangues full of arrogance which resounded previously throughout Flanders, testified to a remarkable return to a more modest frame of mind. There is now no longer the question of making Great Britain cry out for peace and bringing her to her knees, but merely of trying to do as well as she or even better. This avowal of the Kaiser illustrates and emphasizes the splendid British effort which is marked by ever-increasing success in the air, on land and sea."

SON'S EXEMPTION CLAIM.

Boston, Mass., Aug. 24.—"If my son will be half the fighter in the trenches as he is at home, he will be a general in a short time." This was the letter a mother sent to an exemption board here after her son had claimed exemption on her account.

MILITARY VOTE

BILL NOW FOR

THIRD READING

(By Morning Bulletin Leased Wire)

OTTAWA, Aug. 24.—The Military Voters' bill, which has occupied the attention of the commons for the greater part of the week, was reported from committee this evening and stands for a third reading. At one time it was feared that the discussion of the bill would be more protracted and that it might be necessary for the government to invoke the closure rule to secure its adoption by the house.

AMENDMENTS ACCEPTED.

As the result of a joint conference held on Thursday, however, a number of amendments were agreed to which in a measure satisfied the opposition and insured the passage of the bill. The provision in the bill as originally introduced to which most exception was taken was the one giving to soldier voters who are non-residents of Canada the right to vote in any constituency. As a result of the joint conference, the government agreed to amend this clause as to provide that soldiers who have lived in Canada must vote in the constituency in which they last resided in this country.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 24.—Boris de Laskine, who claimed to be a Russian diplomat, was arrested on his arrival here today on a trans-Pacific steamer by Federal authorities, as a German spy suspect. He had a Russian passport, 2,000 in cash and seventeen trunks, authorities said.

COSSACKS HAVE

CONFIDENCE IN

KORNILOFF

(By Morning Bulletin Leased Wire)

PETROGRAD, Aug. 24.—The council of all Cossacks in assembly have voted full confidence in Lieutenant General Korniloff, commander in chief of the Russian armies, and Premier Kerensky.

The question arose then following a demand published in Izvestia, organ of the council of soldiers' and workmen's delegates, that Lieutenant General Korniloff be dismissed because of the strict regime he instituted in the army.

The council adopted a resolution approving the general's course as the only rational one and denying the right of workmen and soldiers to interfere.

He was eulogized as the "only general able to restore order and lead the country out of a critical situation."

A meeting of the fish producers and representatives from the government railway, C. P. R. and G. T. R., has therefore, been called by the fish committee of the food controller's office to consider ways and means to meet present and future requirements.

MURDER CHARGES AGAINST 34 NEGRO

Soldiers Of 24th

(By Morning Bulletin Leased Wire)

HOUSTON, Tex., Aug. 24.—Blanket charges of regulars and Illinois National Guardsmen today and order is being maintained. Roll call this morning by Major Snow, in command of the battalion of negroes, developed that 125 men were absent. Eighteen of these have surrendered and others are being rounded up by military police.

Under military law, it was stated, soldiers may be shot for having mutinied and fired on their officers.

According to police reports the trouble arose when a negro was arrested. A negro soldier asked that the prisoner be turned over to him. A refusal led to an argument and the soldier was subdued and taken to headquarters.

A little later another negro soldier approached the policeman and asked concerning the first man. When told that the negro was at headquarters more words followed and the negro was sent to headquarters much used up.

From every source Thursday night reports came that this treatment of the soldier led to the rioting.

LEADING WESTERN LIBERALS

UNCOMMUNICATIVE OF WHAT

MAY BE RESULT OF CONFERENCE

(By Morning Bulletin Leased Wire)

WINNIPEG, Aug. 24.—A number of prominent western Liberals, just arrived from Ottawa, conferred with Manitoba Liberals here today on the political situation, and presumably on their attitude towards the formation of a non-partisan government. The conferences will be continued tomorrow and as Premier A. L. Sifton of Alberta, and Hon. J. A. Calder of Saskatchewan, pointed out, any statement which would indicate the nature of any decision arrived at must of necessity emanate from Premier Borden at Ottawa.

The definite statement was made by H. W. Wood, of the United Farmers of Alberta, that while he favored the formation of a union or national government he himself would not be a member of it, the reason being given that he considered there were better men with more experience and ability to fill a position of cabinet rank.

Hon. J. A. Calder stated when informed of Mr. Wood's decision that that was of course a matter for Mr. Wood to decide. Mr. Calder added that in addition to consulting with the other western Liberal leaders he had met Hon. A. B. Hudson, of the Manitoba government, and a number of other local Liberals during the day. Premier Norris stated that he had not taken part in conference.

The Liberals in attendance were Hon. A. L. Sifton, Hon. J. A. Calder, H. W. Wood and T. A. Crerar, president of the Grain Growers' Grain Co., Premier W. L. Martin and Hon. C. A. Dunning of Saskatchewan.

Premier Sifton or Mr. Calder as to the probable outcome of the conference, and although certain leaders were discussing the situation at midnight and will remain in the city tomorrow, the probability is that a statement by Premier Borden not later than Monday will indicate the decision of the Liberals as to their participation in the formation of a national government upon the basis offered by Premier Borden, an equal representation of Liberals and Conservatives in the proposed government.

While the leaders decline to say anything which would reveal in the slightest degree the nature of the decision which their decision would determine, there was ample evidence that the problems being discussed were of the gravest import, and that issues of the utmost moment were involved.

One prominent Liberal expressed the view that matters grew less favorable towards the co-operation by the Western Liberal leaders in a union government. It was known that they were assembled in conference, the receipt of a sheaf of telegrams from certain points deprecating union government having their effect.

On the other hand, equally well-informed opinion inclined to the view that a national government with a strong element of Western Liberals was practically assured, and did not hesitate to name the western representatives as Hon. A. L. Sifton, Hon. J. A. Calder, Hon. A. B. Hudson and T. A. Crerar.

Guilty of Murder with Strongest

Recommendation to Mercy Jury's

Verdict in Case of Two Eskimos

(By Morning Bulletin Leased Wire)

CALGARY, Alta., Aug. 24.—"Guilty of murder, with the strongest possible recommendation to mercy that the jury can give," was the finding of the jury empaneled to hear the charge of wilful murder against Sinnisliak and Ulukuk, two Copper Mine Eskimos, who killed Fathers Leroux and Rouvriere four years ago on the banks of the river which gives the tribe that name. The jury was out 45 minutes and followed the direction of Chief Justice Harvey in his verdict, the justice summing up dead against the prisoners on their confession.

The chief justice declared on the verdict being given that no other finding was possible on the evidence, and that the gentlemen had performed a very unpleasant duty. He would recommend that the jury should not just as strong a recommendation from himself. He would not pass sentence, as he thought there would be no necessity for passing it, as he was sure prompt action on the part of the governor-general would follow the recommendations of the jury and himself.

"Tell them, Patsy," said the justice, adding the interpreter, "that they had no right to do it."

Patsy, however, hesitated and Inspector La Nauze was asked to direct Patsy. "Under our law they have to give their own life," the judge went on, and then the inspector continued, following the judge, "Big white chief."

WILL AGGRAVATE CLEAVAGE IN

(By Morning Bulletin Leased Wire)

VANCOUVER, B. C., Aug. 24.—"For publicity purposes and as a political document your resolution has its value and my regret is that its effect will be to aggravate the cleavage in popular sentiment which it appears to deplore."

As it will have this effect your resolution is to be deprecated."

This is from the reply of Premier Brewster to the meeting of 1500 Great War Veterans and citizens on Sunday night, August 12, when the returned soldiers unanimously protested against the attitude of Western Liberals at the Winnipeg convention.

Mr. Brewster goes on to say: "Your emphatic and unanimous endorsement of conscription may be accepted readily as an expression of your views as to the best method of contributing to the successful prosecution of the present war, while your condemnation of any party politician who stands in the way of its immediate enforcement simply emphasizes the different viewpoints which may be held conscientiously by many individuals who have given careful study to the great questions involved and have reached conclusions differing essentially from our own in matters of detail quite as important as those emphasized in the body of your resolution."

"The support given by me and my conferees to the resolution of the Winnipeg convention was given because in our opinion the ground traversed

CAMROSE AS CENTRE OF EDUCATION

Normal School, Practice School And Lutheran College All Located There.

The normal school at Camrose reopened on Wednesday, August 22nd, for the fall term with 42 students, 40 women and two men presenting themselves for enrollment on the opening day and more to follow. The marked disparity in numbers between the sexes will be readily understood as being due to the war conditions and the consequent dearth of man power in the province.

The Camrose normal school, the second largest in the province, the other being at Calgary, was established in 1912 and during the construction of the present building was housed in the high school. The new building was completed in 1913 and is a handsome and commodious structure, standing on extensive grounds and occupying a commanding position on the hill overlooking the town on the southwest side where it can be seen from all directions. It is fully equipped with all the most modern and up-to-date appliances and requirements of a high class educational establishment, its splendid halls and spacious lecture rooms being designed with special regard to lighting as well as to the convenience and comfort of the students.

Practice School Also.

Here also is the normal practice school which is in reality the public school of the town with an enrollment of 320 pupils. For the information of the unenlightened, it may be explained that the normal practice school is simply an ordinary public school attached to a normal school and attended by the children of the district, in which the teacher-students practice the scientific methods of teaching inculcated and illustrated by the faculty of the normal school.

There are two courses for teachers, each extending over a period of four months—the spring course and the fall course. The former commences in the first week of January and terminates at the end of April. The fall course continues from the 22nd of August to Christmas. Any student who passes the department Grade XI examination is eligible for admission to the school as a second class certificate candidate, while those who pass Grade XII are eligible as first-class candidates. For the first two years of its existence the normal school only gave second-class certificates; now it awards both first and second.

The Attendance Figures.

In the spring term of 1916 there were 142 students, including a number of teachers from the "old countries" and from the States who took a short course of five weeks. In the fall term there were 9 students. The number in the spring term of this year was 87. One reason for the comparatively small number of students presenting themselves at the present session is the fact that owing to the scarcity of teachers in the province a number of the students who have passed out of the high schools are now going out teaching on permits. A large proportion of these will in all likelihood take the normal course next spring or fall.

The Staff.

There is a capable and distinguished staff of instructors engaged at the normal school. The principal is G. Fred McNally, M.A., one of the best known and most popular educationists in Alberta. Vice-Principal J. R. Tuck, M.A., is professor of hygiene, geography, agriculture and nature study. The other staff members are: Mr. A. B. Stickle, B.A., mathematics and psychology; Miss A. J. Dickie, B.A., composition, grammar and history; Miss E. M. Burnett, primary work; Miss J. Stewart, domestic science; Miss Currie, secretary; Miss Ethel Boyle, librarian; G. F. G. Manning, art and C. S. Morrison, manual art and wood work.

At a moderate estimate the establishment of the normal school in Camrose means an annual revenue of $50,000 to the town. But the indirect advantages derived from such a centre of education are incalculable and more important and cannot be estimated in dollars and cents.

The staff of the normal practice school is as follows: F. D. Weir, B.A., principal; A. E. Adams, vice-principal; Miss K. B. Goodfellow, Miss Armstrong, Miss Logan, Miss Orr, Miss McLennan, Miss Johnson and Miss Le Blanc.

The high school has an attendance of 600 pupils. The staff consists of Mr. Ford, B.A., principal; Miss D. R. Ripley, B.A., and Mrs. Powell.

The Lutheran College.

Another important educational establishment in Camrose is the Norwegian Lutheran college, with an attendance of about 60 students from all parts of the province. The principal is Professor Lavik, B.A., and the vice-principal, Professor Solheim, B.A. From the foregoing it will be seen that Camrose is one of the most important educational centres in Alberta and with its advantages in this direction coupled with its position as an important agricultural and railway centre the town is assured of a prosperous future.

Charles Hill, a boy of 13, who lives at 10643 Fraser avenue, was leading a horse belonging to his uncle, W. B. Bolter, of 9212 112th avenue, to pasture yesterday when the animal became restive and finally made a bolt. Then the animal slipped and rolled on the boy, who was somewhat bruised and otherwise injured. Mr. Deming, of the Canada Western Supply Company, took the lad home in his automobile.

Cardwell boy, injured in a similar accident, is still unconscious at the Royal Alexandra hospital and his condition is reported to be unchanged.

SUFFICIENT HARVEST HELP IN ALBERTA

Six Thousand Men In Province And Others Coming—Women Doing Their Bit In Fields.

H. A. Craig, deputy minister of agriculture, who has just returned from a motor trip through the province, starting from Lethbridge, says that the crop generally is looking very promising. The hauled-out district around High River was the only exception noted. Cutting has already begun at some points but will not be in full swing for a week or so. The deputy minister thinks that the yield will be up to the average except in the eastern part of the province, where the dry spring set it back. The quality of the grain will be as good as the best.

Mr. Craig noted that the women of Alberta are "doing their bit" in helping with the harvest. In many fields he saw women wearing overalls, pitching hay, handling rakes and forks with a spirit and efficiency that makes the average harvest hand look like a slacker.

It is estimated that 6,000 men will be at work in the harvest fields of Alberta this year, in addition to home labor. The deputy minister of agriculture considers that the prospects of an adequate supply of labor is so good that there is no further occasion for anxiety. The Edmonton and Calgary labor bureaus and the Lethbridge bureau sent out 600. It is expected that another 122 will be enrolled in the next 10 days.

BONNIE DOON S. S. PICNIC AT BEACH

Bonnie Doon Baptist Sunday school held its annual excursion Wednesday when upwards of 200 children and their teachers journeyed to Alberta Beach and had a most delightful time. The party left the C. N. R. depot by the 2 p.m. train arriving at the Beach at 3.30. Here an enjoyable program of sports, races, games, etc., was negotiated, while bathing and fishing were indulged in by a large number of the children. Nearly all brought baskets and a camp tea on the grounds was partaken of an enjoyable meal. The party was photographed at the lakeside. They returned to the train at 8.30 and arrived in Edmonton at 10 o'clock. The excursion was such a success that the school is hoping to be able to organize a union Baptist excursion next year.

Much of the success of the outing is due to J. R. Adashead, superintendent of the school, and J. Pritchard, senior teacher.

SHOOTING FOR GEESE, DUCKS OPENS SEPT. 1

Birds Reported To Be Fairly Plentiful—Close Season For Chicken.

The shooting season for wild geese and ducks opens Sept. 1st, and while the official date for the close is set at Dec. 15th, the season will really end with the coming of the ice upon the lakes. The legal limit states that not more than 30 ducks shall be killed in any one day by any one person nor more than 200 ducks shall be killed in one season by any one person.

Chicken Shooting Illegal.
No partridge, pheasant, ptarmigan or prairie chicken shall be killed in the province of Alberta before Oct. 1st, 1918. There is no open season for these birds this year.

The only shore birds that may be killed are the Black Bellied Plover, the American Golden Plover, Wilson's Snipe, the Greater Yellow Legs and Yellow Legs. The open season for which is from Sept. 1st to Dec. 15th. All other shore birds are protected. Swans and cranes are protected for ten years under the International treaty with the United States.

Game guardians and travellers report that ducks and geese are fairly plentiful. The international treaty abolished the spring shooting of ducks in geese and this has tended towards a marked increase in the mating and raising of large numbers of young ducks in the lakes and sloughs of the northern part of the province for the birds were not disturbed in the spring.

Sheep and Goats.
The season for mountain sheep and goats is open from Sept. 1st to Oct. 14th inclusive. The season for hunting deer, moose and caribou opens from Nov. 1st to Jan. 14th inclusive.

Licenses must be secured the same as was the case last year. The fees are $2.25 for a resident's bird game license; $2.50 for resident's big game license; $1.00 for a non-resident's big game license; $5.00 for non-resident's bird game license; and $25.00 for non-resident's general game license. The limits on the number of big game allowed to any one person is the same as last year.

WANTED SERGEANT TO MARRY THEM

One Of The Few Things, However, Which The Police Cannot Do.

The police are expected to be able to do almost anything, from finding a lost pocketbook to catching a German spy. Sergeant Hinds of headquarters, thought that while it was his duty to reach yesterday afternoon, however, when a prospective wedding party marched into the place, bride and groom, license, witnesses and all and wanted him to perform the ceremony forthwith. As soon as the sergeant got his breath he told them that marrying people was one of the few things that he couldn't do. He gave them the address of a minister up street and the cavalcade departed.

BOY OF 7 DROWNS IN THE PEACE RIVER

Body Recovered Three Days Later After River Bottom Is Dragged.

Peace (Special to the Bulletin)
Haight, the seven-year-old son of Mrs. L. M. MacLean, was drowned last Saturday while in bathing at the junction of the Heart and Peace rivers. The boy was dragged on Saturday and Sunday and Tom Burns, the diver from the railroad construction camp, made several dives in order to locate the body, which was found on Tuesday. The body was recovered on Tuesday and was taken to the Peace River hospital. The boys have been playing around this point all summer and no one thought there was much danger. The little boy knew how to swim, but was apparently caught in an underwater current. The accident was a shock to the community as the little fellow was well-liked.

The funeral was held on Wednesday.

SULPHUR EMBARGO EXCITES PAPERMEN

Ottawa, Aug. 24.—Announcement of the United States embargo on sulphur exports to Canada caused a sensation in newspaper circles. The embargo of the United States on sulphur exports to Canada would be forced to close within a few months, probably by the end of the year. It is believed that the embargo of sulphur supply are Japan and Sicily—both out of the question owing to shipping conditions.

In official circles here nothing was known of the embargo. The view is that there will be an effort to provide for export by special license to fill actual needs of the pulp manufacturers. It is believed that the order is only designed to control and conserve the sulphur supply of the United States. That Canada will not be wholly cut off is the more probable from the fact that American publishers depend so largely on this country for their newsprint.

POPE'S PROPOSALS ARE INTERPRETED

London, Aug. 24.—Telegrams received here from Rome say that prominent persons at the Vatican, interpreting the pope's peace note assert that Pope Benedict believes an indemnity is necessary for the restoration of Belgium and Northern France, and also that the pope takes the view that restoration of Serbia is essential, but did not mention it in his note as he believed the whole Balkan question could be dealt with more effectively by negotiation as a separate problem.

From the same source it is said that the pope's note was preceded by unofficial conversations with prominent Germans to obtain Germany's consent to provisions for restoration of invaded territories.

Crop Reports

By Bulletin Local News Correspondents.

At Heister, the crops are looking fine and cutting is general.

At Fort Assiniboine, a severe storm passed by this settlement. There was a very heavy rainfall but no damage was done. Grain cutting has begun.

At Sion the past week has been very hot with many thunderstorms accompanied with light rains and without hail, making good haying weather and improving the crop which is a fair one. The cutting is progressing with a fair crop.

At High Prairie the weather conditions for weeks have been ideal. All grain and cutting is general. Cutting has commenced on several farms, and will be general by the 25th.

A "detective" who said that he had five months experience in sleuthing, since coming to the city from the farm, was one of the principal witnesses for the crown.

This man, W. Blake, claimed connection with the Central Detective Agency, but said that he was paid for his services in the Arcadia case by the city police department. He was rather hazy concerning some of the facts in the case but insisted that he had bought two bottles of liquor at the restaurant in question for $5 a bottle.

He contradicted himself several times while giving his testimony and was brought sharply to task by the magistrate.

"You're a pretty bum detective," was the greeting given the informant by the counsel for the defense as the man stepped from the stand.

City detectives who were called told of having given their star witness money with which to buy liquor from the Arcadia. He had worked under their direction. Napper told the jury that he had sold the liquor on the two occasions to which Blake had referred.

The defense expects to call eight witnesses on Monday morning, to which session the case was adjourned by Magistrate Barclay.

The officials of the License Department say that the trouble is not caused so much by the regular shack dwellers, as by a number of transients who come along, put up a building or tent on the H. B. Reserve or some other part of the city.

Here they herd together for some months, or so long as the city officials do not get after them for living under unsanitary conditions. The number of shack and tent dwellers in the city is not nearly so great as formerly, but there are enough to start a good-sized epidemic if they were not looked after.

Just now it seems that a number of the regular ones are trying to stave off payment of their taxes, and in consequence the department have to get after them.

The imposition of these licenses serves the purpose of keeping check on the class of tenements, and it also compels the dwellings to be kept in sanitary condition. The bylaw says that no person shall occupy as a dwelling place a tent or building appurtenant to a shack, or an temporary building unless it bears the license number and the letters "B.H." exposed in a conspicuous position, this showing that the license is issued under the Board of Health. Again the license cannot be issued until a certificate has been secured from the Medical Officer of Health to the effect that the premises conform to the sanitary requirements of the Public Health Act and the other bylaws and regulations of the city.

The provisions of the bylaw do not extend to tents or buildings used solely for the purpose of storing additional sleeping accommodations for the bona-fide occupants of an adjacent residence.

WHEAT PRICES AGAIN TOPIC IN COMMONS

Hon. Frank Oliver Questions Sir George Foster On "Spreads."

Ottawa, Aug. 24.—On the orders of the day in the commons this afternoon, Arthur Haignes said that his remarks of yesterday on the C. N. R. bill had been incorrectly reported in the press in a couple of particulars. He had not remarked, as reported, that Montreal was open to conscription. Neither had he stated that he favored confiscation of the C. N. R. It would, he said, be for him to say superfluous that he had made the latter statement.

Replying to questions by Hon. Frank Oliver, Sir George Foster said that the maximum price of $2.40 for wheat in Canada, fixed some time ago, had been made a fixed price until September 1st. He said that the United States would be in a position to co-operate with Canada in establishing prices.

Sir Oliver quoted figures of wheat prices to show that they were higher in Minneapolis and Duluth yesterday than in Winnipeg. He asked if these figures were correct.

Sir George replied that they were, but that prices had fluctuated a great deal from day to day. Sometimes they were lower and sometimes higher across the line than in Canada.

Mr. Oliver suggested that the department of trade and commerce should prepare a statement showing what has been lost by the farmers through the prohibition of export of wheat.

Sir George did not know that this could be done, but if it could the department would also prepare a statement showing how the people of Canada had benefited by the prohibition.

COURT HEARING EVIDENCE IN ARCADIA CASE

W. Blake, Farmer-Detective, Is The Chief Witness For Prosecution.

After numerous adjournments the police court finally started Friday morning with the hearing of evidence in the series of liquor charges brought against the Arcadia cafe, 9711 Jasper avenue.

John Walter Napper and Charles Zahner, alleged proprietors, together with John R. Dennis, waiter, were arraigned.

A "detective" who said that he had five months experience in sleuthing, since coming to the city from the farm, was one of the principal witnesses for the crown.

This man, W. Blake, claimed connection with the Central Detective Agency, but said that he was paid for his services in the Arcadia case by the city police department. ADVANCE IN PRICE OF MILK TODAY

Only Nine Quart Tickets For A Dollar Instead Of Ten As Heretofore.

The price of milk will be advanced today in Edmonton from 10 quarts for a dollar, the present price, to 9 quarts for the same money. The Edmonton City Dairy Co., Ltd., in making the announcement said that the price of milk has already gone up in other cities, Calgary having taken the step on the first of the month. In Winnipeg milk is 12 cents a quart straight. It is also pointed out that this is the first advance in several years and that the increased cost of feed, labor, etc., has made it necessary.

Other dairies and milk dealers will doubtless conform to the same schedule as the E. C. D. Co.

According to the new schedule common milk will hereafter be sold at 12 cents per quart, nine quart tickets for a dollar. "Superior" milk will be 12 cents per pint, 24 cents per quart, nine cream tickets for a dollar.

Cream will be 12 cents per cup, 24 cents per pint, 40 cents per quart and whipping cream and buttermilk advance in price proportionately.

ENTERTAIN CHILDREN

The school children at Lac St. Anne were entertained on Wednesday last by the visitors staying at Rosary Camp. About fifty children attended, including a number of natives. Some of the younger children were accompanied by their mothers, who seemed to enjoy the fun as much as the juveniles. Games, boating, bathing, etc., were indulged in, at the conclusion of which the tired but happy youngsters were entertained at the camp and needless to say did justice to the good things provided, and dispersed after saying cheers for their generous entertainers.

Baby's Great Danger During Hot Weather

More little ones die during the summer than at any other time of the year. Diarrhoea, dysentery, cholera infantum and stomach disorders come without warning and when a medicine is not at hand to give promptly the short delay too frequently means that the child has passed beyond aid. Baby's Own Tablets should always be kept in the home where there are young children. An occasional dose of the Tablets will prevent stomach and bowel troubles, or if the trouble comes suddenly the prompt use of the Tablets will cure the baby. Mrs. Chas. Anderson, Minda, Alta., says: "Baby's Own Tablets are the best medicine for a weak stomach. They cured my baby when suffering from stomach complaint and have made her a fine healthy child."

Stockman and Mrs. Nellie McClung. Miss McMillan, from Edmonton, contributed two songs to the program. The chairman was Rev. Mr. Connolly of Namsa.

Miss Julia Ponton, secretary of the Red Cross society, gave a very able and interesting description of the work done at the head office and made a plea for the establishment of circles. As a result of her appeal, three new circles were formed in the district represented at the meeting.

A voluntary committee of three is in charge of the work in each school district and the campaign for members will begin at once.

GOLDLANDS LIMITED

Offers a sound investment, for gold is one metal that never changes in value and we now own leases of 430 acres of gold-bearing gravel as an asset.

The property has been tested by sinking about 30 pit holes over the entire property to a depth of ten feet, at which depth water prevented further testing in this manner, and about a dozen bank cuts eight feet deep. The gravel was taken from each pit to a depth of three feet. Then the gravel was excavated was put in a rocker and the gold was separated by rocking. The contents of the gravel so removed was measured and the result per cubic yard was thus ascertained. Then a further three feet in depth of the same material was excavated and so on. Gold tested from 20c to $1.00 per cubic yard, the values increasing at the greater depth, and where coarser gold was always found. Which proves without a doubt an immensely rich one.

Mr. Campbell states in his report on the property that the whole area of 430 acres will average 50 cents to the cubic yard to the depth of ten feet, and has the best of reasons to believe from the results of his tests that the values will increase until bedrock is struck, where high values will no doubt be found.

The following is a copy of report of the value of the gold taken from the property:

GOLDLANDS LIMITED,
c/o J. W. Grant, Esq.,

Dear Sir,—I beg to advise that I have assayed sample of gold submitted by you and find the fineness of sample to be Eight Hundred and Thirty-Two—$832/1000.

With gold at a value of $20.67 per oz., the value of the sample submitted is $17.29 per oz.

Summer Camp

IF THERE is one place more than another where Dr. Chase's Ointment is appreciated it is in the summer camp. Hunters, fishermen and miners, as well as military men, have found this ointment, and rarely go to camp without a supply of Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Among the scores of uses to which it is put we will only mention the following:—

Insect stings and bites, ivy and oak poisonings, sunburn and irritated skin, chafing and scalding, sore feet and toes, eczema and salt-rheum; itching, bleeding and protruding piles.

Piles usually result from exposure to dampness and sitting or sleeping on the cold ground. If for no other reason than to relieve and cure piles, Dr. Chase's Ointment should be in every camp. It is a positive cure for this annoying ailment.

THE BLESSING OF A HEALTHY BODY

Has Not Had An Hour's Sickness Since Taking "FRUIT-A-TIVES."

MR. MARRIOTT

78 Lees Ave., Ottawa, Ont., August 9th, 1916.

"I think it my duty to tell you what 'Fruit-a-tives' has done for me. Three years ago, I began to feel rundown and tired, and suffered very much from Liver and Kidney Trouble. Having read of 'Fruit-a-tives,' I thought I would try them. The result was surprising. During the 3 1/2 years past, I have taken them regularly and have not had an hour's sickness since I commenced using 'Fruit-a-tives,' and I know now what I haven't known for a good many years—that is, the blessing of a healthy body and clear thinking brain."

SATURDAY, AUG. 25, 1917

The latest statement by the Minister of Militia shows that there are 52,000 Canadian troops at the front and 210,000 in reserve in France, England and Canada.

The farmer is paid $36 per ton for peas for canning. At ten cents per can the consumer pays 300 per ton for them. A food regulation forbidding people to eat canned peas in summer should hardly be necessary in face of these facts.

Voluntary enlistment would be a good deal more active, perhaps, if the soldier were paid something more in keeping with what can be earned in civilian employment and without risk and discomfort.

There is no conflict between the idea that measures should be taken to collect arrears of taxes and the idea that the taxation system of the city should be altered so that in future everyone who shares the benefits of civic expenditure will be asked to contribute toward it. Both are necessary. The proposals are complementary, not alternative. The debts that have been incurred against unpaid taxes will have to be met by collecting these taxes so far as it can be done. The future needs of the city will have to be met by taxing those who can pay, whether they own real estate or do not.

Proprietors of refreshment stands charged with selling beer stronger than 2½% make the defense that they sell the beer as it comes to them from the brewery, and have no means of knowing what percentage of alcohol it contains. The Dominion should prohibit the breweries making anything stronger than the provincial law allows. The retailer who wants to keep within the law would then be protected against intentional violation of it; and the one who intentionally breaks the law could not put the blame on the brewery.

The result of the prolonged strike is that Western railways and industrial establishments are to be put on "coal rations" this winter, while an appeal will be made to the public to burn as little as possible lest the supply run out. This is the substance of a statement by Sir George Foster in Parliament. How serious is the prospective shortage, or whether the restrictions will have to be made severe enough to hamper the railways in handling the grain crop and to tie-up industrial concerns, did not say. But as the strike has been allowed to drag along until the reserve supply of coal had been exhausted, and as the output of the mines since operation was resumed has not been up to normal, the chances are that more or less serious interference in these directions cannot now be avoided. The time to avoid them was six months ago. Sir George did not indicate, so far as the despatches show, whether the coal dealer as well as the users will be put under regulation, or whether he will be allowed to take advantage of the situation. As we have a fuel controller, and also a $25,000 assistant controller, an official statement could be forthcoming as to whether the price is to be regulated as well as the use. To be effective the announcement should be made without delay.

Hon. Robert Rogers says he does not think a coalition Government would be any good which left the recognized leaders of the Parliamentary Opposition outside. In other words, a coalition which did not coalesce would be only a fake.

The proposal to use the First Street Market building this winter as a storage warehouse for vegetables is a good one, provided there is demand for storage space. And with the luxuriant gardens growing everywhere in the city and the prospective cost of food this winter it is likely that householders who have not good basements will be looking for storage room.

When Hon. F. D. Monk left the Government he declared in his letter of resignation that Sir Robert Borden had not kept faith with the public, in refusing to allow an expression of opinion on the navy question. When Sir Sam Hughes left the Government he declared in the House of Commons that Sir Robert Borden had not kept faith with the soldiers and the country, by calling a halt in the recruiting campaign on demand of the munition-makers. When Hon. Robert Rogers left the Government he declared in his letter of resignation that Sir Robert had not kept faith with his conscriptionist supporters, in halting the enforcement of the measure in defiance of his own declaration of the immediate need of reinforcements. No Canadian Premier ever before received such a volume of testimony from his former colleagues as to his weakness and vacillation.

Sir Sam Hughes, late Minister of Militia, recently surveyed in Parliament the history, achievements and present status of the National Service Commission. His presentation of the matter will be found in Hansard for Aug. 13th. The following paragraph sufficiently summarizes the facts to show what measure of usefulness the Commission is considered to have developed, in the opinion of one of the Ministers under whose auspices and for whose assistance it was created:

My good friend (Mr. R. B. Bennett) constituted himself the head of the National Service Commission and, with the Prime Minister perambulating through this country from the Atlantic to the Pacific. If I were in that hon. gentleman's place I would never be found insulting the intelligence of the Dominion House of Commons by standing up in my place and addressing them on any subject. This is the gentleman who made such an exhibition of himself and who was such a failure as the head of the National Service Commission which has been wasting the country's money in thousands and tens of thousands of dollars perambulating up and down the country. He wound up with a meeting in the great Massey Hall in the city of Toronto. Not content with having that hall he arranged for an overflow meeting in the great Metropolitan church and for another in the Orange hall adjoining. He is the hon. gentleman who has brought us to this very undertaking, every interest, every man with whom he has been associated. When the night came for the meeting in the great city of Toronto only two-thirds of Massey hall was filled and the meeting was carried out by rushing an order out to the barracks and rounding up 2,000 or 3,000 troops at the last minute to make a quorum. There was no meeting at all in the great Metropolitan church and the doors of the Orange hall were not even opened. This hon. gentleman stands as the head of a commission that for nine months held up the boys in the trenches. There never was an institution in Canada that had as loyal support from the people as had this gentleman and his commission. We were all doing our best for him. He stands as having been the head of the greatest failure that ever occurred in the public life of the Dominion of Canada.

A Pirate Submarine

A pirate crew in a submarine lies safe in a Spanish bay. The skies are clear, and the air serene. For this, their holiday.

They'll rest awhile and time bequeils. Until the murderous crew, without adieu,
Will silently sneak away.

Oh, for the days of Francis Drake. When he sailed the Spanish Main; With an English crew, by all that blue, How he made the Dons afraid.

Oh, he would have found this pirate boat.
This shark of the ocean deep. And ten pistols to a single goat. He could put that crew asleep.

There's not much room in a periscope. For a score of rogues to swing; It would crowd them much, but would save some rope—
A rosary for a king.

By a circular issued by Mr. E. J. Chamberlain, President of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway and Grand Trunk Railway System, Mr. W. P. Hinton becomes Vice-President and General Manager of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, succeeding Mr. Morley Donaldson, who has retired on account of ill-health.

William Pittman Hinton was born August 30th, 1871, at Ottawa, Ont., and was educated at Ottawa Collegiate Institute. He began railway work on May 8, 1887, in the Auditor's Department of the Canada Atlantic, and in September, 1891, became rate clerk in the traffic department. From March, 1896, to July, 1901, he was Assistant General Freight Agent, and then was General Freight Agent, until his appointment in February, 1903, as General Freight and Passenger Agent of the same road. In October, 1905, when the Grand Trunk absorbed the Canada Atlantic he became General Agent in the passenger department of the Grand Trunk at Ottawa, Ont., in charge of immigration and transatlantic passenger traffic, remaining in that position until January 1, 1907, when he was appointed Assistant General Passenger Agent of the Grand Trunk at Montreal. On May 1, 1909, he was appointed General Passenger Agent of the Grand Trunk Pacific at Winnipeg, Man. On October 1, 1914, he was promoted to be Assistant Passenger Traffic Manager of the Grand Trunk and Grand Trunk Pacific lines with headquarters at Montreal, Que. In November, 1915, he returned to Winnipeg as Traffic Manager of the Grand Trunk Pacific, having charge of both freight and passenger traffic and was appointed at the same time to represent also the Canadian Government Railways with the title of Western Traffic Manager.

UNPRECEDENTED SUPPLEMENTARY ESTIMATES

Ottawa Citizen: Supplementary estimates for the fiscal year ending March 31st next to the amount of $60,542,472.35 were tabled in the Commons by Sir Thomas White yesterday. They bring the total amount of appropriations for the fiscal year up to $178,824,236.99, exclusive of statutory expenditures aggregating $74,891,001.24.

Among the items is $7,500,000 to be loaned to the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway Company to meet interest charges and redemption of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway and the Grand Trunk Pacific branch lines and to provide for betterments and rolling stock. To purchase rolling stock for the Canadian government railways, $25,000,000 is to be voted. Among the sums voted at a previous session and now to be re-voted are $1,020,000 for the construction of the Welland Ship Canal, and $3,867,745 for the purchase of the Quebec, Montmorency and Charlevoix Railway, the Quebec and Saguenay Railway, the Lotbiniere and Megantic Railway.

THE BUSY MILLER

Ottawa Citizen: An order-in-council has been passed at the instance of the food controller for Canada prohibiting the export of Canadian flour to the United States for the period for which the export of Canadian wheat to the United States has been prohibited, subject to the proviso that the food controller for Canada may issue licenses permitting the export of flour in proper cases for such export as he deems necessary and expedient.

This action has been taken owing to the situation which had been developed since the Board of Grain Supervisors for Canada set a maximum price for No. 1 Northern wheat of $2.40 per bushel, Fort William, on August 1st, to cover the balance of the old crop. While the price was fixed in Canada, in Minneapolis it has since reached $2.10 for No. 1 Northern spring wheat, with a corresponding increase in the price of flour. With Canadian wheat at $2.40 and the Canadian millers have been shipping to the American market to get the benefit of the higher prices over there.

HOW BORDEN WINS THE WAR

Associated Press: London, Aug. 17.—There still seems to be considerable heartburning in Canada and England concerning the return of surplus officers. The Canadian Associated Press has received the following statement:

"Canadian overseas military forces have grown. Conditions which existed at the inception of Canada's army do not obtain today. Changes in policy had to be made, as rules of administering a small army are inadequate when applied to the larger force. Among those was the introduction that the principal senior officers for the fighting force in France should be made from officers who had served there, and junior officers should be made largely by promotion from the ranks of units there. Then again, units were raised in Canada and sent over with a full complement of senior officers, but owing to demands for reinforcements and the impossibility of dispatching complete units to France, these on a rival in England had to be used to maintain the strength of formations already in France. The result of this has been the creation of a surplusage of senior officers. Some have been required to fill various positions of importance. Some 200 received appointments in the British force on lines of communications. After as many as possible had been taken care of in this way, there still remain quite resolution by each delegate present. The resolution, which was moved by Donald Downie and seconded by Dr. W. D. Murray, read as follows:

"That seeing the extraordinary success that has been achieved at Winnipeg for our country, for our empire and for Liberalism and good government by the splendid platform and the stirring and patriotic resolutions there adopted, and that western Canada united has thus taken its rightful place and influence at last on the political life of Canada.

And that the far-reaching consequence of that convention and its decisions obtained against the wind and tide of Tory intrigue are due in large and special measure while all have done their duty—to the tactful force and strenuous exertions of two of our members, the Hon. the premier, Mr. Brewster, and F. C. Wade, K. C., chairman of the B. C. delegates, and that for their energy and their courage and their example in the good work done at this historic Liberal congress, which has raised these gentlemen high in general esteem, we tender them, in a cordial and unaffected manner our sincere recognition and our grateful appreciation."

In reply Premier Brewster and Mr. Wade thanked the delegation and gave brief outlines of the work accomplished at the convention.

EDMONTON SOLDIERS AT HOME AND ABROAD

RESTORING HEALTH AND VIGOR TO USELESS LIMBS OF OUR WOUNDED SOLDIERS

What the Massage Department at a Montreal Hospital is Doing For Canadian Soldiers Who Have Been Disabled in Battle—A Big, Efficient Institution.

To restore health and vigor to useless limbs, to overcome the harm that has been done to sturdy muscle, by bullet wound and shrapnel—such is the object of the Massage Department of the Grey Nun Convalescent Home for soldiers, that big, efficient institution that receives the returned soldiers of Military District Number 4, says the Montreal Star. The department is under the direction of Dr. F. W. Harvey.

Massage as a branch of medical practice has truly come into its own since August, 1914, and in all the great military hospitals of Europe the masseuses are working overtime at the task of revivifying the muscular cells which have lost their energy through the fortunes of war.

The massage department at the Grey Nunery had its beginning back in the early days of the war, when the first military convalescent home was established in Belmont Park. There Major McTaggart, Capt. Robertson and Mrs. J. A. Henderson organized departments for massage and electric treatment for the wounded soldiers. Capt. Robertson even had his own galvanizing and static machines installed in the building. Trained masseuses offered themselves as voluntary workers, each one coming two or three days during the week and each, in the first instance, bringing her own equipment.

Work Begins to Grow

But with the influx to the Dominion of the Canadian wounded the work began to grow. The Government undertook the organization of the military hospitals and the Grey Nun Military Convalescent Home was established in the buildings of the Grey Nunery, on Dorchester street. Capt. Robertson's electric machines were installed there, and to them was added a great deal of supplementary equipment.

Today the massage department occupies three bright rooms on the top floor of the home. Just across the hall from it are the rooms of the electric department, for the two work largely in co-operation. The masseuses are no longer voluntary workers. They have been taken on the strength of the hospital. The sister in charge of the department, Miss Stewart, is a trained nurse and also a graduate of the course in massage and remedial gymnastics offered by the McGill School of Physical Education. Others on the staff are also graduates and Miss E. M. Cartwright, the physical director of the school, is at present giving a month's voluntary work to the department. She has previously had a year's experience in European military hospitals.

Staff of Six Trained Masseuses
The staff includes six trained masseuses, one masseur and four Voluntary Aid Department workers, the last to do the clerical work and the bandaging. Something like seventy cases are cared for a day in the massage department.

In the long hall outside the doors the wounded men sit waiting for their turn, most of them clad in the familiar khaki, a few in the blue hospital suits that those who have hardly reached the convalescent stage usually wear.

They can tell you of the wonderful cures that massage is effecting, of the weakened arm or the lame shoulder that is daily gaining strength through the efficient treatment that it is receiving. Here is a chap with two bullet wounds through his elbow. The muscles were so torn that his arm was of no use to him, but today he can use it almost as well as he could before he was hit and he is anxiously awaiting the day when he will be able to go once more on active service.

A Remarkable Case

Next to him is a young sergeant who has suffered a bad case of compound comminuted fracture of the leg. Massage treatment has joined the broken bones and has brought out to the surface more than a hundred bits of splintered bone. The case is rather a remarkable one and the man will eventually be able to walk as well as ever.

Lime juice is supplied to the patients of the massage department on these hot days, an act made possible by the kindness of some friends of the hospital, and very grateful the soldiers are for the cooling drink. Remedial exercises are given in the department. Attached to one wall is a machine invented by Dr. Harvey, medical director of the department, for the purpose of providing a method of exercise for weak wrists and weak arms. It is interesting to notice that some of the necessary equipment of the rooms has been made by the returned soldiers who are working in the vocational training school.

There is widespread interest in the work of the Grey Nun Hospital. An evidence of its extent is shown by the fact that the oak hat stand at the door of the massage department is the contribution of the Griffintown Mothers' Club. Electric equipment has been presented to the department by the students of the Royal Victoria College and by the pupils of Trafalgar.

PRUSSIAN "KULTUR" SET FORTH IN SCHOOL GIRL'S LETTER

No better idea of the peculiar mental condition of the typical Prussian who regards his countrymen as the lords of the world and all other peoples as mere "weeds," can be obtained than from the following letter written by a Prussian school girl to a friend in Switzerland. The writer undoubtedly is young. Therefore it is quite safe to assume that her views are reflected and consequently throw a very good sidelight on the German viewpoint respecting "Kultur" and all that it signifies. The letter, which is published in a recent issue of the Scotsman, is as follows:

The Letter.
Frankfurt-on-Oder, 20th July, 1916.
My Dear Louise: The contents of your last letter would have hurt me had I not known that your thoughts of our glorious war resulted from sheer ignorance. You are in a country rendered effeminate by the influence of old-fashioned ideas of liberty, a country which is at least two centuries behind us. You are in need of a good dose of Prussian culture.

It is evident that you, a Swiss girl, with your French sympathies, can not understand how my heart, the heart of a young German girl, passionately desired this war. Speaking of it some years ago, my father said to me: "Children, Germany is getting too small for us; we shall have to go to France again in order to find more room." Is it our fault if France will not understand that more money and land are necessary for us?

The Belgian Rabble.
And you reproach us that our soldiers have been very cruel to the Belgian rabble, and you speak also of the destruction of Reims, and of the burning of villages and towns. Well, that is war. As in every other undertaking, we are past masters in the making of war.

You have a great deal to learn before you can come up to our standard and I can assure you that what has been done so far is a mere bagatelle compared with what will follow.

"Lords of the World."
As a matter of fact, there is but one race worthy of ruling the world, and which has already attained the highest degree of civilization. That race is ours, the Prussians; for though we Germans in general are the lords of the world, the Prussian is undoubtedly the lord par excellence among his Germans.

All other nations, and among them, unfortunately, the Swiss, are degenerate and of inferior worth. That is why I have always been so proud of being a true Prussian. Yesterday, again, our pastor explained to us convincingly that our first parents, Adam and Eve, were also Prussians. The contents of the Bible tell us that the German God created us all after His own image. If, then, all men are descended from Adam and his wife, it follows that only Prussians, or at least Germans, ought to exist in the world, and that all who push on and prosper ought to belong to us. You must admit that that is logic, and that is why our motto is, "God with us, Germany above everything."

Others Only Weeds.
You know now why we wished this war. It is not shameful that other nations, who have no right to existence on the earth, wish to diminish our heritage. We are the divine fruit, and the others are only weeds. That is why our great Emperor has decided to put an end to all these injustices and to exterminate the weeds. Do you understand that now?

I remain, your school friend,
KATIE HAMEL.
(Daughter of the State Councillor of Architecture).

J. E. PUGH NOW PILOT IN ROYAL FLYING CORPS

J. E. Pugh, formerly clerk at the Indian Agency at Winterburn, is now a pilot in the Royal Flying Corps. He enlisted at the start of the war, going overseas as a private in the 15th Alberta Dragoons. Later he was transferred with a commission in the 49th Battalion. He was wounded, and after recovery was transferred to the Royal Flying Corps, where he has been so successful that he has won the double-winged decoration of a pilot and expects soon to be in the air service over the battlefield.

Private L. Bethune

Private Lorne Bethune, of Provost, previously reported missing and now officially reported to have been killed in action June 3rd last, was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Angus Bethune, of Provost. He was 28 years old, single, and was born and brought up in the township of Roxborough, Ont., where he was well and favorably known. He came West in 1908 and took up a homestead nine miles north of Provost, where he lived for several years. He was a clerk by occupation and worked in various stores in Provost. In 1914 he was employed in a store in Chinoak, up to the time of his enlistment, April 20th, 1916, in the 175th Battalion. He went overseas in September and was only at the front a couple of weeks. He is survived by his parents and also by a brother and a married sister.

COMMUNITY OF VETERANS PLANNED FOR PEACE RIVER BY CAPTAIN JOSEPH ARTS

Will Be Worked On Lines of Belgian "Legion of Peasants"—To Lay Scheme Before Ottawa Government, Asking 160 Acres of Land Each.

The establishment of a community of returned soldiers up in the Peace River district, which will be worked on the lines of the "Legion of Peasants" in Belgium, is a scheme upon which Captain Jos. Arts, a returned veteran himself from the great world war, is at the present time giving his undivided attention.

The captain was an army chaplain with the first Canadian contingent, and has seen over two years' service in the firing line both on the western front and at Gallipoli. Some time ago he was invalided home from the latter front owing to having contracted fever, and since his convalescence he has been maturing his scheme for the settlement of the soldiers on the land upon their return to the west.

The reverend gentleman, in the course of a chat in Edmonton recently, stated that the colony he suggested would be worked on a community basis, similar to the Legion referred to above, and which had been one of the most successful institutions since the war in that stricken land of Belgium. He is a native of that gallant country, and thoroughly understands the workings of the association mentioned. He instances the fact that 28 years ago there were six members, and their capital represented $10. At the outbreak of the war the membership was 255,000, and the money handled represented many millions of dollars monthly.

There is every chance of the scheme being successful as the captain is a resident of the Peace River district, his home being at Besen, and he has already carried out a number of co-operative colonies which are in prosperous condition.

Only Asks For Land.
He has already been assured of at least 700 veterans, and he is shortly leaving for Ottawa to lay his plans before the Government. All he is asking is a grant of 160 acres of land for each returned soldier and not any financial assistance whatever. The money that the soldiers have will be pooled and the community will be worked on a same plan of co-operation similar to what was in force in Belgium prior to the war.

HOW THE KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS ARE AIDING IN THE WAR

The Knights of Columbus in Canada have already contributed $20,000 to establish Roman Catholic huts for soldiers. A fund has been established. It is called the Roman Catholic Canadian Chaplains' Fund for soldiers' huts. This is financed by the Knights in all of Canada.

The Alberta Knights have agreed to contribute their share to this purpose. At their last state convention, which was held in Calgary a short time ago, a resolution was passed, authorizing the state council to raise the sum of $1,000 by assessments to be levied on members. The four councils, which comprise the State of Alberta, and include those of Calgary, Edmonton, Medicine Hat and Lethbridge, have agreed to contribute to the Canadian Chaplains' Aid Association to provide for the needs of Roman Catholic priests serving as chaplains overseas.

In the United States the Knights of Columbus are deeply interested in the war. They have already actively taken up the cantonment work. The board of directors has appointed a committee on war activities. This committee consists of Chairman, P. Callahan, supreme director of the Knights of Columbus and member of the United States chamber of commerce; James J. McGraw, supreme director and president of the Ponca City national bank; James A. Fisher, supreme knight of the Knights of Columbus; Daniel J. Callahan, supreme treasurer of the Knights and president of the Knights of Commerce, Washington, D.C.

At their supreme convention recently held in Chicago several of the most noted orators of the order convincingly presented to the delegates the importance of the work undertaken by the order with respect to the war. They showed that funds were necessary for the work to be a success. Some months previously the order had voted $1,000,000 for cantonment work, but it was pointed out that this would be insufficient, and they carried it. Hence it was agreed that the sum should be increased to $3,000,000 to accomplish the desired result. The Knights of Columbus war fund will provide additional chaplains to go with the forces to France. This work is very necessary, because, although the national army will be supplied with ample reinforcements, the chaplains holding commissioned ranks, still several units will be without the services of a Roman Catholic priest.

Sergt. W. Trudell

Another Ponoka boy who has given his life for King and country upon the battlefield of Flanders is Sergeant William Trudell, who is reported to have been killed in action. Sergeant Trudell was 33 years of age and was born at Prairie Riding, Ont. He enlisted March 29th, 1916, in the 202nd Battalion, but on arriving on the other side was transferred to the railway construction corps, being soon promoted to the rank of sergeant. Farrier. He was a horse-shoer by trade. He came to Ponoka in 1914 and was a well-known and respected resident, leaving a host of friends, who deeply regret to hear of his death. He leaves a wife and five children, the oldest of whom is but 13 years of age.

MAJOR WEAVER HAS REJOINED UNIT IN FRANCE

Wounded Some Time Ago and Has Been Undergoing Treatment in England.

The many friends of Major C. Weaver, of this city, will be glad to know that after having been wounded for the second time during the fighting on the western front he is making good progress toward recovery and expects to rejoin the 49th Battalion of which he is second in command somewhere in France, early in the month.

Major Weaver was born in Liverpool, England, June 9th, 1884, and was educated at the Manchester Grammar School. He came to Canada in March, 1903, and studied law. He was called to the bar in May, 1901, and was admitted, in uniform, by the Justice Ives.

His military career began in the Old Country, when he served a year in the second Volunteer Battalion of the Manchester Regiment. He joined the 101st Regiment, Edmonton Fusiliers, on its organization, and reached the rank of color-sergeant in the unit and was commended to A. Squadron, 1910, given a commission. A Squadron 19th Alberta Dragoons. On the outbreak of the war he was called to the front and in December, 1914, for the special service squadron of the Dragoons, but was not sent overseas until May 21st, 1915. He went to Belgium with the battalion on October 9th, 1916, and was soon in the thick of the fighting in the Ypres region.

At Sanctuary Wood he was wounded, on March 6th, and invalided to England with a contusion on the back and chest, caused by his having been buried by the explosion of a shell. He returned to France October 5th, 1916, being just in time to take part in the fighting on the Somme.

He participated, however, in the famous assault on and capture of Vimy Ridge, on April 9th of this year. On the 24th of April Major Weaver was again severely wounded, at 1 Chaudiere, and was invalided to England for the second time, on May 11, 1917. His family have received word that he is making good progress toward recovery and expects to rejoin the Edmonton battalion in France sometime between August 1st and 15th.

Before being called to the bar, Major Weaver was articles to Walter Vinny Ridge, of the firm of McDonald & Tigh. He took great interest in cricket in Alberta and was a noted player. He captained the combine Edmonton team which played against Australia in 1912. He was also active in football, being captain of the Alberta Dragoons team in the Edmonton Football League. He married.

He filled ably and well. He was also the first president of the Grand Prairie Liberal association, and was interested in every worthy movement and ideal.—Grand Prairie Herald.

FIVE INDIANS FROM EDMONTON RESERVES FIGHT IN FRANCE

Five Indians from the reserves under the Edmonton Agency have enlisted and are now "Somewhere in France," fighting valiantly for their big Chief, King George. The names of the five are: Henry Ward, Baptiste Thomas, Adam Thomas, Albert Kootenay and Abraham. All were well at the last word. They write words of kindly appreciation for the gifts of tobacco that some of their stay-at-home friends have sent them.

Driver W. J. Kellett

Word was received on August 3rd by Mrs. Kellett, of Grande Prairie, that her husband, Driver W. J. Kellett, of the Canadian Engineer Corps, was accidentally killed in England on July 31st. Mr. Kellett had never been to the front, although he had enlisted two years ago in the 56th battalion. His death marks the passing of one of Grande Prairie's pioneers, and a man who was greatly respected and honored everywhere.

Mr. Kellett commenced farming operations at Kleskun Hill about four years ago, where he resided up to the time of his enlistment. Although a married man with six children, shortly after the outbreak of war he decided to give his services to Canada and the empire. He was most patriotic, a loyal and true son, one who had no hesitation in giving his life, if needs be, in behalf of so great a cause. For several years Mr. Kellett was secretary treasurer of the Grande Prairie municipality, a position which

Have a New Barn.
Dear Uncle Tom—This is my third letter to your club. I am sorry I did not write sooner. I hope to see you other letter in print. I hope to see this one. Papa has a windmill. We have a nice garden. I lost my backer the colts and calves. I lost my backer and would like to have another one. We have a new barn. We have 64 turkeys. I have to feed them. There was a big hail storm close by out place; we were lucky; we had none here. School will only start the first of September.

LADVA SOFFERT.
From your niece, where you lived—Uncle Tom.

Broke His Leg.
Dear Uncle Tom—I read the Uncle Willie's stories and the letters. I was a little girl about ten years old. I had my leg broken. The way I came to get it broken was George and I were on the flat fence; we had a turnip eat and had put the tops over the fence. Geo. saw a squirrel and said to me to run and catch it. I went to get down and pulled the top down on top of my right leg. It was broken on three inches below the hip bone. I received my badge and after I got the pin for holding it shut. It broke. Will you please send me a new badge or tell me how to fix it. Could some one please send me the rules of a baseball game. Your member, MARY HALPENNY. Kinburn, Aug. 18th.

Dear Uncle Tom.—I have not written to you for a long time, but here I am with my excuse. I have been very busy at the haying and harvest and I have not had time to write. I am sending 12 names and I trust you will send them their badges. I received my badge and like it very much. I wear it all the time. I would like some of the members to send the words of "Well never let the old flag fall."

I think you for the badge. I will see my boy and girl friends and get them to write. Your truly, GEORGE HALPENNY. Kinburn, Aug. 18th.

Enjoys Holidays.
Dear Uncle Tom: I received my badge. I like it fine. Thank you for sending it. Our school did not start yet. I am in grade IV. I was away for two weeks and had a fine time. My letter is getting long. So good-bye. RUTH McDONELL. St. Albert, Aug. 20th.

In Grade 3.
Dear Uncle Tom: This is my first letter to your club. I would like a badge. I am 8 years old. I am in grade 3. We are having our holidays yet. I will close for the time. So good-bye. KATIE McDONELL. St. Albert, Aug. 20th.

At Kinella Fair.
Dear Uncle Tom: Well, I am going to tell you of a fair we had down here in Kinella on Friday, Aug. 10th. I had a good time and there were lots of things that were on exhibition. They gave prizes for the best exhibit, and they had a booth where they sold candies, ice cream and soft drinks in aid of the Red Cross. I am going to school these days, and I like it fine. For I always get o.k. for spelling. Wishing the club all happiness and success. I am, yours as ever, Wm. T. TURNBULL. Kinella, Aug. 20th.

Many Horries Here.
Dear Uncle Tom: We have started school again and I am in grade VII. During the holidays I picked berries mostly raspberries. In the berry season we got raspberries, strawberries, gooseberries, huckleberries, saskabons, cranberries, and choke cherries. Some of your members have started school and the rest are either busy haying or berrying. Will one of your members oblige me by sending the words of "I Shall Come Home When the Bob Tide Flows"? I will return the favor.

I read about Uncle Willie. I think he is a very good-natured bunny. Your sincere member, LETTY LOVE. North Edmonton, Aug. 22nd.

A Letter from Alar.
Dear Uncle Tom: I am very proud of my badge. I used to live in Innis-tem. I enjoy the Uncle Willie's stories. Your new member, VIOLLET HENDERSON. R. 2 North Lakima, Wash. U.S.

Alatina Grown.
Dear Uncle Tom: This is my first letter to your club. I was talking hay on the flat today and shocking it. There is a lot of hay down there this year.

The U.F.W.A. are giving a contest for children in gardening. There are classes for Alfalfa, vegetables and flowers. My sister and I have alfalfa. I hope to get a prize.

We have forty-one head of cattle and bulls. Just three are grades. I milk two cows every morning and Great Fun to Milk.

Dear Uncle Tom: I am afraid I have been neglecting the club as it is a long time since I wrote my first letter. But I think vacation time is such a busy time as there are so many things to look at, and play with, especially when the men are out haying. When we go with them we have a pile of fun. I have been trying to learn to milk. I can milk one cow now. It is great fun to milk. I am very pleased with the way Uncle Tom has printed the children's page in the Bulletin. It is a nice little paper now. I think I will do for this time. From your niece, MALFRID BONESS. Torfield, Aug. 22nd.

Wild Flowers for Fair.
Dear Uncle Tom: I hope you will excuse me for not writing for so long. But my brother is sick and I could not write before. The fair in Vegreville is next week. I am going to go and take some wild flowers to see if I can get the prize. I am going to Edmonton this fall. School starts the 27th of this month. Will someone please send me the words of "Laddy in Khaki". STELLA A. TIERNEY. Vegreville, Aug. 18th.

"I wonder," said Nadine to Carroll, as the two little girls sat on the sea-shore in the shade of a fishing boat. "I wonder if we dug and dug and dug we'd get to China!"

"I guess we would," replied Carroll, "but I don't care to try, I don't!"

"Oh, why not, Carroll?" asked Nadine. "I'd love to!"

"Well," replied Carroll, who was very practical, "in the first place we couldn't. It's too far. In the second place, there's fire in the middle of the earth, and I know crabs live down in the sand, besides we'd prob'ly come to a lot of water. Oh, here's a crab now! A big one! Give me your spade a minute. I'm going to catch him!"

But Mrs. Crab got away. Nadine was glad of it. She was a little bit afraid of crabs.

"If I started to dig on the other side of the boat and you dug on this side we'd have a tunnel straight through!" said Carroll. "Let's try it! It would be much more fun than trying to dig to China."

"But-but do you think we'd meet many crabs?" asked Nadine, anxiously. "I heard once 'bout a little girl an' a crab got her toe and held on and held on until somebody hit it on the back!"

"Keep your toes curled up and they can't get 'em," said Carroll. "Nurse told me that crabs were shellfish and only pinched selfish people. Now, you're not selfish usually. Of course, you are sometimes I suppose."

"That was just a joke, you know," replied Nadine. "Wasn't it, Mother-kin?"

Mother-kin was busy with a book and nodded rather absentmindedly. Nadine at last took her spade around to the other side of the boat and began to dig. The boat was big and heavy and the day was hot. A little wind moved Nadine's hair ever so softly and the little girl stopped to rest.

"I wonder if Carroll's Nurse really meant that about the crabs," she said to herself. "I hope I'm not selfish. Let's see, selfish people want to have their own way all the time and they don't like to lend their things. Well, perhaps I am selfish sometimes when I'm not thinking about it. But I never knew crabs were selfish. Oh, I forgot! Crabs are s-h-e-l-l-f-i-s-h. It's spelt differently. Then, Oh-um!" She gave a great, big yawn and curled up her toes.

Just then strange things began to happen. A wide, funny face appeared at the hole Nadine had just made. The face had poppy eyes and a big smile and wore tortoise-shell glasses, but somehow Nadine knew that it was a crab's face—that is, it was a crab, for crabs haven't any faces strictly speaking, unless they are all face and no body. This is what Nadine thought.

"I heard you talking about me," said the Crab. "You said you were a shell-fish sometimes. I suppose you are a soft-shell fish. I'm a soft-shell crab every once in a while. When I want to grow and need more room, I throw off my shell then I am soft for a while. I've got teeth in my stomach and I often change my feet."

"I don't," replied Nadine. "I think you must be ignorant not to know the difference between shellfish and selfish. You don't know spelling and grammar."

"I don't pretend to know everything," replied the crab, "but I warn you—if you're shedding your shell watch out for other crabs! There's a great, big crab who lives around here that eats soft shells!"

"He couldn't eat me," said Nadine. "I'm not a fish at all. I'm a child—a person. I could eat him if I were allowed to—and you too!"

The crab looked so alarmed that Nadine laughed and added: "But I won't eat you, besides Mother-kin says crabs aren't good for little girls."

"You're very nice to say that," replied the crab. "Would you like to come in?"

"In where?" asked Nadine. "In my house," replied the crab, "right in here."

The next thing Nadine knew she was following the crab down, down into his hole.

"You know, Mr. Crab," said Nadine. "I don't care to go to China—not without asking Mother first."

"Oh, I'm not at all. I'm a child—a person," replied the Crab. "I'm an American crab."

Just then they came to a little door hung with seaweed with the American flag draped over it.

"I hope you won't pinch my toes," said Nadine, anxiously.

"Oh, no!" replied Mr. Crab. "Not unless you wish it. My new claw isn't very strong yet. I got rid of my old one—it got so knicked when I pinched the last toe, a horny, old fisherman's—I just shed it and let some sandhoppers have it for supper."

Nadine felt better and looked about her. Mr. Crab waved her into his parlor—such a cute little room, shaped round, with red plush furniture and a photograph album on the little table.

"I'm expecting Cousin Jonas Cray-fish and Uncle Lenny Lobster for supper," said Mr. Crab. "I hope you can stay. I'd like you to meet them. I think you'll like Uncle Lenny. Please sit down and make yourself at home. Indeed he was so polite, Nadine was quite charmed.

"You aren't a selfish shellfish at all," she said. "I would like to see your cousin and uncle if they are both so polite."

Soon there was a tapping at the door and a little hermit Crab came in. He had a palm leaf fan and looked very tired and hot, but he made a low bow to Nadine.

"Oh, dear!" he exclaimed. "I've had the awfulest time trying to find a suitable shell. I tried on at least fifty, I think, and some were too small and some were too large and some were too plain, and some were too fancy. At last I found this one that just fits. Do you like it?"

He walked up and down before them and both Nadine and Mr. Crab declared that they thought the shell was very beautiful and neat.

"How often do you change your shell?" asked Nadine.

"Oh, whenever I grow too big!" replied the little Hermit Crab.

"You see, if I didn't have any shell, I'd soon be gobbled up by sandpipers or something else, so my shell is my dress as well as my house and armour."

Nadine laughed at this and thought it was a very clever thing to do—to have a little shell dress.

Soon Cousin Crayfish and Uncle Lobster arrived. They looked very much alike, only Cousin Crayfish was very much smaller and not quite so green. Nadine said she would just sit and watch the others as it wasn't her supper time, and they were the merriest party you ever saw. The dishes were little shells and Mr. Crab made tea in a big wheel's shell.

Just as the party was at its height Nadine heard her mother calling.

"Oh, I must go!" she cried. "I've had a lovely time. Thank you, kind Mr. Crab!"

Up she jumped but something held her fast. She looked around and rubbed her eyes.

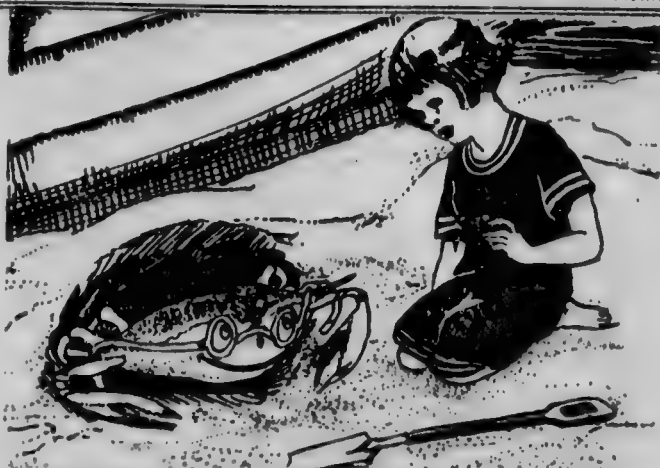

"Wu, she's been fast asleep!" laughed Mother-kin.

"Shellfish aren't selfish, are they?" said Nadine, putting her head down on Mother-kin's shoulder.

"No, dear," replied Mother-kin.

"Shellfish" is a noun, but "selfish" is an adjective—see? Didn't you have that in school?"

"I like nouns best," she murmured.

HOW BOBBY'S WISH CAME TRUE

Bobby had wanted his picture taken ever since he could remember. One day, when he was confiding his hopes to Johnnie Jones, he told him that with the first money he ever earned he would buy a camera.

Johnnie was Bobby's best friend, but he was a whole year older than Bobby, and knew more about cameras.

"What would you do with a camera?" asked the scornful Johnnie.

"I'd take my picture," replied Bobby with dignity.

"You couldn't take your own picture," scoffed Johnnie.

Bobby thought over this a moment, "I would get Susie to take it then."

Susie was Bobby's older sister, and Bobby cared for her so much that he told her all his secrets. To be strictly truthful Johnnie was a little bit jealous of Susie. That is why he shook his head so doubtfully, and said it took an "awfully smart girl to work a camera."

"Susie is a smart girl," said Bobby loyally.

"Not smart enough for that," Johnnie insisted.

Bobby scowled darkly. "Something," Bobby confessed to Susie later, "just made my fist go out—like that!" and he doubled up his sturdy little fist and shot it toward Susie's old rag doll to show her how he had hit Johnnie.

Bobby played all the next day with Susie. The next day he waited for Johnnie's whistle, but Johnnie did not pass the house. Shortly after this Bobby forgot all about Johnnie because of visitors. The visitors were his Aunt Mary and her little girl, Bess. Aunt Mary had a great deal of money, so much that she was going to take Bobby and Susie with her little girl down to the seashore for a month. Neither Bobby nor Susie had ever been to the seashore and weren't quite sure that they wished to go. But Bess told them how much fun it was, what lots and lots of sand there was to play in, and more water than they had ever seen. So when Bobby's mother asked him if he wanted to go with Bess and Susie he said, yes, and thought how sorry Johnnie Jones would be when he learned that he was gone.

The next day Bobby and Susie kissed their mother and father goodbye and started for the seashore with Aunt Mary and Bess. They rode a long, long way on the train. At first Bobby watched the houses and the fields and the trees flash by the windows, but after awhile the Sandman threw so much sand in his eyes that he could not keep them open.

He did not remember anything that happened to him after that until Aunt Mary called him merrily and told him it was morning and that Susie and Bess were almost dressed. After breakfast they went down to the beach, and Aunt Mary brought Bobby a bucket and a shovel so he might dig in the sand.

He was so busy filling his bucket with the fine white sand for the girls to pile up into a little heap, that he hardly noticed the ocean at all. Quite suddenly Bess called out,

"Look, look!" and Bobby and Susie saw her pointing at something out on the blue water.

"What is it?" asked Bobby, dropping his shovel.

"It's a boat," sister Susie told him.

"A sailboat," corrected Bess.

"Two of them!" cried Susie, excitedly, pointing at another she could just see.

"They would make a pretty picture with those big fleecy clouds," called Aunt Mary. "Bess, go get the camera."

"Hurrah!" cried Bobby, and began to dance up and down in his joy. "Can I have my picture taken, Aunt Mary?" he shouted. Aunt Mary smiled and nodded brightly as Bess came dancing from the hotel with the camera.

He and Susie and Bess gathered closely around Aunt Mary and watched her open the mysterious black leather box, and pull out the long red thing that looked, Bobby thought, so like the funny wrinkled box the old Italian on their street at home pulled in and out and made music on.

"Would you like to take a picture, Susie?" asked Aunt Mary.

"Oh—yes m'am!" smiled Susie, clapping her hands.

"Hu—sie, Su—sie!" shrilled Bobby, running back toward his bucket. "Take one of me with my bucket!"

Bess and Susie followed him back to where he was filling his bucket eagerly. "I want it full," he told Susie, proudly, "and then I'll send my picture to Johnnie Jones."

"Who is Johnnie Jones?" asked Bess, watching the busy Bobby.

"He's just a boy! He said Susie wasn't smart enough to take my picture, and I'm going to show him."

"I can't see him," Susie said to Bess.

"You can if you get on your knees," answered Bess.

"Can you see him now?"

"Part of him! I can't see his head," complained Susie.

"Bobby, you move back a little, then she can," Bess told them.

"Yes, I've got him all now. Shall I squeeze this rubber ball now?"

"Keep just as still as a mouse. Bou

"Can You See Him Now?" Bess Asked.

by," warned Bees. "Now squeeze."

Bobby sent his picture to Johnnie Jones the next week. He did not go home for a long time after that. But when he did Johnnie was waiting to welcome him.

"Got your picture, Bobby," grinned Johnnie Jones.

"Susie took it," said Bobby briskly. "Gee, I wish she'd take mine!" said Johnnie, admiringly.

"Bobby, Bobby!" called Bobby's mother, laughing. "Come here! Don't you know I haven't seen you for a whole endless month?" Bobby ran swiftly toward his mother.

"Coming out to play, Bobby?" Johnnie shouted after him.

Bobby nodded and called happily over his shoulder.

"Maybe I can get Susie to take your picture!"

BRISK TUITION.

He was a very young witness, withal dirty. He was the despair of the clerk and the magistrate; but his testimony was supposed to be vital, not to say necessary.

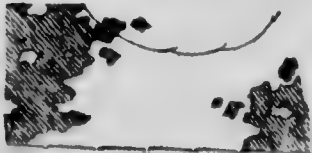

"Come, my boy," said the magistrate, "have you ever taken the oath?"

"No, sir."

"So you don't know how to swear?"

"Don't I, by jing! Why, m'lud, I was yer caddy once!"

Doing His Bit

My goodness! but a garden needs
A lot of care— you put in seeds.
An' soon as they begins to grow
You have to water 'em an' hoe.

An' pull the weeds and grasses out,
An' watch for bugs 'at come about.
An' things like beans you take the vines
An' train 'em up on sticks or lines—

It keeps you workin' awful hard
To tend a small one in your yard.
But Papa he says people should
All keep a garden if they could.

An' so I tend mine every day,
An' chase the neighbors' cats away.
An' mean to raise a lot of stuff,
'Cause soldier men must have enough.

FOUR-FOOTED WAR NURSES.

The St. Bernard dogs belonging to the Red Cross are the greatest help in finding the wounded.

A nursing sister with the Dardanelles forces says it is remarkable how the dogs know the dead from the unconscious. They never make a mistake.

When they find a living man they signal by giving a low, mournful howl, and if that does not fetch help they run toward the hospital station with the man's cap. This lets the nurses know the nation of the victim and the dog leads the way directly to the rescue.

The Red Cross dogs are never let out till a battle is over.

Adventures of Uncle Wiggily

By Howard R. Garis

Uncle Wiggily and Alice's Stocking

Copyright, 1917, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

"Uncle Wiggily, why don't you try to learn how to paint?" asked Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzey, the bunny rabbit's muskrat lady housekeeper, one day, as she sat in the hollow stump bungalow, decorating a white china plate with wreaths of morning glory.

"Who, me? Oh, I'm too old," laughed Mr. Longears. "If I had a big brush and a large pot of red paint I can manage to splash a little on the barn, but that's all. I never could do any fancy work, as you did when you took the green duck weed and painted a nice bouquet for Lulu Wibblewobble."

"Well, any time you want to use my paints and brushes you are welcome," said Nurse Jane.

"Thank you," spoke the bunny with a low and polite bow. Then he went off in the woods to look for an adventure, but the only one he had was helping a lady bug find her five-cent piece that she dropped down in a Jack-in-the-Pulpit flower.

"Which is hardly an adventure at all," said Uncle Wiggily. "I'm going back to my bungalow to get some supper."

So back he hopped, but when he got there he didn't find the cupboard quite bare, but he did find a note which Nurse Jane had written on white birch bark, and left for him.

"Dear Wiggy," said the note. "I have gone up to visit Mrs. Bushytail, the squirrel lady, and I'll stay to supper with her. Your supper is in the ice box."

"Very good," said Uncle Wiggily, smiling. "Nurse Jane needs a little rest. I can wait on myself."

So he found some cold parrot pie, some cold cabbage soup and some cold turnip dumplings in the ice box, and made a good meal of them. He saw Nurse Jane painting things in the parlor and then he said:

"Well, I guess I will try to paint a little, just for fun."

But Uncle Wiggily had no sooner made a pink rose with blue petals than there came a knock at his bungalow door, and on the port stood Lulu and Alice Wibblewobble, the two duck girls, and they were all dressed up.

"My goodness!" cried the bunny uncle. "Are you going to a party, and did you want Nurse Jane to paint you some more bouquets?"

"Not this time, thank you," answered Alice. "We are going to a party, it is true, but we are not going to take bouquets this time. We just stopped in to let you see how you liked our new dresses, stockings, bows and so on."

"I like the 'and so on' very much," said Uncle Wiggily with a laugh. "Indeed you do look very sweet and pretty, and I wish I were going to the party with you. Whose is it?"

"Jennie Chipmunk is giving it," said Lulu. "Why don't you come with us?"

"Well, I might," said Uncle Wiggily slowly. "I am painting a bit—"

Just then Alice gave a loud quacking scream.

"My goodness! Don't do that!" quacked Lulu. "You frightened me. What is it?"

"I—I've forgotten to put on my stockings," cried Alice, looking down at her bare, yellow legs. Surely enough, there were no stockings on them—only shoes.

"Forgotten your stockings, eh?" asked Uncle Wiggily. "Well, you won't take cold. Waddle on home and get a pair."

"But I can't!" cried Alice. "The house is all locked up, everybody is out and mother has the key. Besides, I haven't time! Oh, dear!"

"Maybe Uncle Wiggily could lend you a pair of his stockings," said Lulu.

"I wear socks," spoke the bunny uncle.

"Could you lend me a pair of Nurse Jane's?" asked Alice.

"They'd be too big," said Uncle Wiggily. "But hold on! I have it! I'll paint a pair of stockings on your legs!" he cried. "No one will ever notice. I'll use Nurse Jane's colors and paint you some fine stockings, Alice."

"Oh, if you only will!" quacked the duck girl. "Otherwise I can't go to the party. Paint me a pink pair, please, speckled with green."

So Uncle Wiggily painted the pink and green stockings on Alice's bare legs.

Then she and Lulu went to the party and Uncle Wiggily went, too, and all the animal girls and boys, when they saw Alice's legs, cried:

"Oh-o-o-o!" just like seeing a balloon.

Uncle Wiggily had made one little mistake. He spot-speckled one stocking and made the other ring streaked and striped, but that did not matter, as every one thought it was a new fashion and very stylish, and Alice had a fine time at the party and danced with the bunny uncle.

THE DIFFERENCE.

"What is a pilgrim?" asked Miss Snitchensmith, of the Fottleville School for Young Ladies and Gentlemen.

"A pilgrim is a man who travels a great deal," declared one hopeless youthlet.

"Oh, no! Not quite that. Why, I travel a great deal, but I'm not a pilgrim."

"Yes; but I mean some one good."

WAR TEMPERATURE.

"Great Scott! Your temperature is 104.5. Never mind, doc. Like everything else it will go down after the war."

The Lady Fair and the Captain Brave

"O captain may I trust your boat?" the fair young lady cried.

"There ain't no stauncher ship afloat," the Captain Brave replied.

"And do you steer her all alone across this awful sea?"

"She knows no guldin' but my own and all her crew is me!"

"And may I safely make the trip, nor feel the slightest fear?"

"I've never lost a life or ship since I've been sailin' here."

"And will you stop and let me fish when on the water blue?"

"I'll anchor anywhere you wish and hold her till you're through."

"Then passage I will take, I think," declared the prudent maid.

"Good," said the Captain. "In a wink I'll have the anchor weighed."

Out on the deep they voyaged then, fair maid and gaudy tar. The artist saw them, took his pen, and drew them—here they are.

MABEL TRASK WON FEATURE IN FAST TIME

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 24.—Mabel Trask, the favorite, won the Free-for-All trot, the feature closing of today's card of the Grand Circuit meeting at Belmont track today. Three of the fastest trotters on the circuit started in the event, which Mabel Trask took in straight heats in close finishes with St. Frisco and established a new track record for trotters in a pace of the second heat, which was stepped in 2:05 1/4. Cox allowed Geers to make the pace in both heats and brought Mabel Trask up through the stretch to win by a head both times.

Geers had a big day, winning the 2 year old trot with Peter June and the 2:25 pace with Robert Catewood, in addition to taking second money in the Free-for-All. The colt race, which was split up by rain on Thursday, went to split heats. Peter June, which finished seventh on Thursday, outstepped his field in both heats today, doing the third heat in 2:08 1/4 and giving Ruth Mainshaft her first defeat of the season.

North Spur, driven by Cox, won his second race of the meeting taking the 2:25 trot in both heats and stepping the middle heat in 3:10 1/4. The meeting opens at Poughkeepsie, N.Y., on Monday.

AIN'T IT A GRAND AND GLORIOUS FEELIN'?

By Briggs

Sporting Facts and Fancies

Full is everything in life these days. If it hadn't been for that Sherwood Magee would now be in the minors. He has been a friend of Garry Hermann for many years, and it is said Garry urged Mathewson to take him on trial.

Shuffling the deck hardly ever brings better luck. Roger Brennan has shuffled the men in his Toledo club back and forth and made many changes since it proved itself a failure in the early part of the season. It hasn't helped the club very much.

President Tener was some twirler in his playing days. It was just about a quarter of a century ago that John Kinley Tener, afterward governor of Pennsylvania and now President of the National League, twirled his last game. It has been said that Tener wasn't much of a pitcher, but the old timers who worked with him tell a different story. Tomorrow will be the twenty-eighth anniversary of one of Tener's best performances in the box. Pitching for the Chicago club, he fanned ten of the Bostonians in nine innings. Of course, that isn't any record, and falls far short of such feats as that of "Toad" Ramsey of Louisville, who struck out seventeen Metropolitans in 1886 and seventeen Cleveland swatters in the following year. Then there is Sweeney of Providence who put the rollers under nineteen Bostonians in one game away back in 1884. Nevertheless, Tener's stunt was pretty good and he was without a doubt one of the great moundmen of his time. The future head of the National League rounded out his playing career with the Pittsburgh club, quitting the game in 1880 when he found that his salary was growing weak. He was then only twenty-seven years old.

Leslie G. Nunamaker, the handsome Yankee backstop, is being slapped on the back today by his team mates and various others, not because he has a sunburn, but because this is his birthday. "Nunny," who is twenty-eight years old today, was born in Lincoln, Neb., Aug. 26, 1889. He was twenty years old when he broke into the professional baseball ranks as catcher for the Dubuque, Iowa, team in the Three-I League. At the end of the 1909 season a scout for the Chicago Cubs recommended that "Nunny" be given a chance to show what he could do in fast company. He was taken with the Windy City crowd on its 1910 training tour, but failed to deliver the goods, and was turned back to the Three-I. He spent the season of 1910 in a Bloomington, Ill., uniform, where he made a record that attracted the attention of the Bostonians. He made good with the Red Soxers, who took him on. He plays a heady game behind the bat and a good one at the bat, besides which he is no slouch of a base runner. Since coming over to the Yankees outfit he has kept up his good record, and it isn't his fault that the team hasn't made a better showing. Rifle shooting is a favorite pastime of the big catcher and he has hung up a number of records. He may get a chance to shoot rifles to his heart's content in the very near future.

Today in Pugilistic Annals.
1829—Bill Cousens defeated Deaf Burke in 101 rounds, lasting two hours and five minutes, at Westons, England. Burke was an Irishman, and had previously fought and won six battles, while Cousens had engaged in but two bare-knuckle bouts, in both of which he was victorious. Bill was a clever man with the gloves, and Burke had also attained considerable proficiency with the mittens, so the 10,000 fans expected to see a scientific exhibition. Deaf Burke was a great disappointment, for he had lacked the money to get proper training, but he was game to the end. While the battle was in progress he begged a drink of whiskey from a sport at the ring side, and he became so exhilarated that for a few minutes he had Cousens almost down and out. Then the effects wore off, and Cousens beat him down. Burke afterward became champion of England, and ranks as one of the great men of boxing.
1899—Dan Czedon defeated Fred Morris in six rounds at New York.
1908—Al Kauffman knocked out Jim Flynn in nine rounds at Los Angeles.

DETROIT, Aug. 24.—Philadelphia pounded three Detroit pitchers for sixteen hits and a total of twenty-seven bases this afternoon, winning the game, 8 to 4. Detroit knocked Schauer out after four innings, but could not hit Seibold, who followed.

QUEBEC, Que., Aug. 24.—"Red" Allen, of Brooklyn, earned a shade over Johnny (Kid) Alberts, of New York, in a ten-round bout before the Irish Canadian club here tonight. The fight was full of action all the way, both boys trying desperately for a knockout. They are welterweights.

The Price of Peace Is Prussianism Destroyed

"There can be no peace until Prussianism is destroyed," says the New York World, in answer to the Pope's peace proposal. "Whether it is destroyed from without or from within rests mainly with the German people themselves, but destroyed it must be if there is to be peace in the world. That is now the beginning and the end of the war aims of the Allies, and unless achieved, autocracy has triumphed and German militarism is master of civilization."

"Germany must be beaten and know she is beaten," says the Louisville Post. And the Chicago Herald warns us that a peace on the Pope's terms "would be a truce not a peace."

Not only do strong supporters of the war dismiss the "Pope's Peace" as a German peace, while they urge strenuous waging of war till Germany is made either "powerless or free," but pacifists, Socialists and German-Americans agree in predicting the failure of the few papal efforts at mediation.

In THE LITERARY DIGEST of August 25th is an interesting article reflecting the opinion of the Press of the country on this newest of the peace proposals.

Co-operative Marketing is Good Business

AGRICULTURAL
NEWS OF WEEKCO-OPERATIVE MARKETING
IS SUCCESSFUL AT LEDUC
AMONG 400 FARMERS

Leduc U.F.A. Co-operative Association Economically Buy Twine, Shingles, Lumber, Salt, Fruit, and Profitably Sell Cattle, Hogs, Grain and Farm Products—Business Developing Satisfactorily—Build New Warehouse.

Co-operation has been the keynote of success at Leduc, especially with the Leduc United Farmers of Alberta Co-operative Association, which was incorporated since March 3rd, 1917, and previously organized as a local union of the United Farmers of Alberta. A paid-up membership of 400 makes the Leduc United Farmers the largest U.F.A. local unit in the province.

This year they have handled 125,000 lbs. of binder twine, besides large quantities of shingles, lumber, salt and apples, in their purchasing department. As individuals they have ordered a considerable aggregate of fruit from the Pacific slope, thereby saving much in the cost of that produce during these times of high retail fruit prices in the towns and cities of Alberta. The individuals who thus ordered their fruit direct from the producers have found that the fruit was of first-class quality, and generally arrived in good condition.

A warehouse, 24x50 feet is being erected with office room attached to provide the capacity to handle the ever growing business. A Standard Fairbanks weight scales of register-type similar to those in use at the Edmonton stockyards. The Association have erected the scales on their own property and expect to construct their own stockyards as well as to be in a better position to handle the large herds of cattle and hogs, that the members by their co-operative system of marketing, ship to the Edmonton stockyards every Wednesday. These fortnightly shipments of hogs and cattle during the past year all went to the Edmonton stockyards and were sold by the Alberta Farmers Co-operative Elevator Company, Limited, livestock branch. The most of the shipments were forwarded to the Wm. Davies Co., Toronto, Ontario.

Sold at Top of Market. The shipment this week topped the market and set a new record in the history of co-operative marketing of hogs in Alberta. The car of 66 hogs were from about 13 separate owners and the 16 head of cattle from 6 other shippers. The lot of hogs averaged about 180 lbs. each and sold at a record price of $17.75 or a total of $1,232.61. Of this shipment 58 select hogs realized the very nice sum of $1,840.67. At such a satisfactory price the owners did not desire to spend the extra time and money to feed them till they reached the 200 lb. mark for at this time both feed and time costs money.

It is the custom of the association to send with each shipment a delegation of the owners and members of the association so that the system of marketing may thereby be better understood by all the members. Furthermore the members turn in accompanying the shipment. By the end of the year twenty-six delegations will have well represented all the neighborhoods and by their reports a good general understanding of the co-operative system of marketing will be understood by the whole membership. It has been found that where there is a good understanding that there is also general satisfaction.

Profit and Satisfaction. Profit as well as satisfaction has been achieved by thus shipping and selling on the open market at the Edmonton stockyards. The key-note of the success has been co-operative satisfaction.

The delegation of local farmers from Leduc included the president, Wm. Bolton; Gus Moll, one of the directors; and A. Vanstralen, one of the shippers, together with M. W. Molyneux, the energetic secretary-treasurer of this very live co-operative organization, the success of which no doubt is enhanced by the plan of co-operation between officers and members in the management of the business affairs of the association.

FLEET OF AUTOS FROM LEDUC
WILL PARADE JASPER AVENUE
AS PUBLICITY FOR FALL FAIR

Leduc U.F.A., 400 Members Strong, and Leduc Agricultural Society Are Co-operating in Making Annual Exhibition Success—Fair Held September 17th and 18th—Cheap Quick Train Service.

Leduc, through co-operation, is developing success in many lines and the latest plan includes co-operation with the residents of the city of Edmonton. They are coming north one of these fine evenings in a very special and novel manner to invite their city neighbors to co-operate with the members of the United Farmers and the Agricultural Society of Leduc in making their annual agricultural exhibition the most successful in its history of many successful fairs.

Without even the formal organization of an automobile club, the auto-owners of Leduc and district to the number of from 30 to 50 will muster at Leduc on the afternoon of Friday, Sept. 14th, and headed by the Leduc brass band, will motor 20 miles to the Edmonton trail and parade Jasper and the other avenue of the city in their specially decorated cars, thus demonstratively extending their most hearty invitation to all to attend the annual fall fair at Leduc, the southern suburban town neighboring the capital, just twenty miles south of Jasper. As a publicity stunt it eclipses many of those that have at various times been pulled off by the publicity organizations of the city.

The two day fall fair will be held at Leduc's fine fair grounds on Monday and Tuesday, Sept. 17th and 18th. Local co-operation ensures success for the farmers and rural residents of the district, through the extra vigorous local U.F.A. with its 400 members and the older organization of the Leduc Agricultural Society are all co-operating in ensuring success with several new features this year.

Monday will be U.F.A. day and the United Farmers will unite in making their day a huge success, each exhibitor will vie with his neighbor in friendly rivalry, to make the competition in the judges' ring as keen as possible. Mixed farming has developed

SELECT HOGS SOLD
HIGHER THAN IN EAST

$17.75 Off Cars Here, Equivalent To $20.25 At Toronto.

Select butcher hogs sold off cars at the Edmonton stockyards Thursday at $17.75, the highest price ever paid here, and equivalent to $19.05 in Winnipeg. This puts the Edmonton stockyard's price as higher in rank than Winnipeg where the top quotation was $18.50 and compared with the Toronto price the price offered Thursday at Edmonton was equivalent to $20.25 at Toronto.

The deal which caused the price to soar at Edmonton was the co-operative shipment of hogs from the Leduc U.F.A. Co-operative Association which was sold through the livestock branch of the Alberta Farmers Co-operative Elevator Co., Ltd., to Carson Wood and Weiler for the Wm. Davies Co., Ltd., for shipment to Toronto for slaughter.

Five farmers from Sangudo who co-operated in their carload shipment of 50 select hogs to the Edmonton stockyards sold their stock on Thursday at $17.75 off cars for the gross amount of $1,580.99.

An extra choice steer, weighing 1830 lbs., shipped from Hay Lakes U.F.A., was sold at the Edmonton stockyards on Thursday at $9.75 per cwt.

TAXES COMING IN WELL AT STETTLE

Collection Proceeds Receipts Of Last Year; Bank Liabilities Less.

The payment of current taxes at Stettler are $6,500 ahead of last year and the tax collections for the first six months of 1917 were $34,223. Other collections also exceed those of the year 1916. The bank liability of the municipality this time last year was $18,000, while now it has been reduced to $8,700. The tax rate is 44 mills, and while not on a single tax basis, the assessment is comparatively low, being only $97.195.

Stettler has a population, according to the last government census, of 1,100, and according to the recent local estimate 1,300. The municipality owns and operates the waterworks system, the electric light utility, and a flour mill. The municipal business is capably handled by W. W. Sharpe and a business administration council board, with E. P. Williams as a very efficient secretary-treasurer.

A few of the industries in this growing town are three elevators, a flour mill, a foundry, a cigar factory, founded by local capitalists, a steam laundry, and a creamery branch of the Edmonton City Dairy.

Stettler is well favored with transportation facilities, having the Canadian Pacific Railway, both east and west, and the Canadian Northern to the north, south and west.

The exports of Stettler are cattle, hogs, grain, dairy products, butter, ice cream, sheep and wool. The imports include, beside the necessities, many of the so-called luxuries, for at the recent fair a large number of autos were present from the rural districts round about.

Not only are the farmers building modern houses and barns, and taking a keen interest in the establishment of the modern conveniences of electric light on the farm, but they equip their farms and homes with labor saving machinery.

The town feels the effect of a prosperous tributary rural community, and during the recent visit of The Bulletin to the Stettler, fair several Raymond Thomas, Farmer's Son, Succeeds With Sheep Wool Pays Well.

One of the most interested exhibitors at the Stettler exhibition was Raymond Thomas, son of J. W. Thomas, a prosperous farmer living 11 miles south of Motha and 20 miles southwest of Stettler on a 640 acre farm. Raymond brought an exhibit of sheep. He takes quite an interest in agriculture and is aiming to take a course at one of the provincial schools of agriculture. After the coyotes had killed 15 head of a flock of 320 sheep, Mr. Thomas sold his flock down to 50 head, which were pastured in an enclosure, fenced with hog wire and two strands of barbed wire. They feed on the wild grass and do fine. Raymond started with one ewe sheep and his flock kept increasing till now he has eleven head of his own. The young farmer's son sold 57 pounds of wool from his nine ewes at Stettler for 50 cents per lb.

NEVER HAD FAILURE IN FIFTEEN YEARS

F. Scherlenleib, who lives five miles southeast of Stettler, exhibited short-horn cattle and cheese at the Stettler fair. His herd was headed by Fashion King, who was first in his class and fourth for grand champion at Calgary this year, but while first in his class at Stettler, was "an also ran" in the contest for the grand championship at Stettler, so keen was the competition of high class stock this year. On his home farm Mr. Scherlenleib has twenty-five head of cattle, half of them purebred short-horns, and the rest dairy grades. He has about 75 acres of grain and with present weather prospects he is satisfied with the realization of a good crop. He has lived in the settlement for 15 years and has never known a total failure of crops in the Stettler district. He has tried alfalfa clover with success.

WITH MULE TEAM AND 85 CENTS

J. C. BLAIN STARTED 14 YRS. AGO; HAS FINEST FARM AT STETTLE

This Plucky, Prosperous Pioneer Has Excellent Crops Every Year, Splendid Herds, With Comfortable, Commodious and Modern Farm Buildings, Now Rides in Automobile—Came From Iowa.

Eighty-five cents in his pocket and a team of mules comprised the visible assets of J. C. Blain when he struck the locality of Stettler 14 years ago. Thirteen good crops in succession with the smallest yield of 61 bushels of oats per acre has helped to place him on easy street as far as worldly wealth is concerned.

Last year he had his first attempt at growing wheat and the crop of his 145 acre wheat field averaged 30 bushels per acre and sold at $1.88 per bushel at time of threshing.

He came from Iowa and drove to Stettler, 65 miles by the overland trail from Blackfalds, with mule team and wagon and homesteaded two miles north of where Stettler now is located. He pulled the first load of building material to the townsite for the first building which was erected for William Piper.

Where Perseverance Pays

With his investment of a few cents, his mule team and his perseverance in overcoming the difficulties of a pioneer, Mr. Blain has achieved a result that should satisfy most men.

He has now a fine farm of 480 acres declared by men who should know to be one of the best in the district. In the winter he enjoys the comfort of steam heat in his home and his live stock have the best barn in the district. It is 40 feet by 70 feet with concrete basement and 16 feet walls on top and 8 foot basement walls. This commodious and comfortable barn has accommodation for 20 horses, 12,000 bushels of grain and 75 tons of hay, and is equipped with hay forks and sheaf slings. The farm has three dandy wells in all of which there is good water secured at depths of 28 feet, 30 feet and 130 feet. A gas engine is used for pumping the water and the engine would run out of gas before the well would be pumped dry.

Goes Into Mixed Farming. His 330 acres of grain crop this year is excellent, though seeding was a little later than usual. Besides about fifty acres have been summer fallowed this year. In the farm garden, potatoes, tomatoes and cucumbers have thrived this year without any water except the natural rainfall. They were still untouched by frost on August 5th when the writer met Mr. Blain at the Stettler fair. His crops have never yet been hurt by frost. Last year he sold two cars of No. 1 Northern wheat and one car of No. 2.

While able to grow such high grade grain yet he has found profit in spreading out into the various departments of mixed farming. The pioneer who started 14 years ago with a team of mules has now 27 horses of good agricultural type, 34 cattle, good grade short-horns and 35 head of hogs with Berkshire as his favorite. Till the high price of grain came along he usually kept from 75 to 80 hogs in his pasture to help in the manufacture of his grain crop into money.

With present prices, ripe experience gained, and the foundation laid in a fertile district, Mr. Blain should be able to build a comfortable competence for his old age, for he is still a young man. The mules are gone. He rides in an auto and his 85 cents has grown many, many fold in value.

USE TRACTOR FOR BINDER

J. C. C. Bremner of Bremner started cutting his 100 acre wheat field this week. Next week he expects to hit his gas tractor to his binder. On his fine farm, 16 miles east of the city, he has 650 acres in crop, the balance, 150 acres, in oats. The whole crop is looking beautiful and the weather is fine for harvest.

SERIAL FILM
NEW FEATURE
AT PANTAGES"The Fatal Ring" With Pearl
White In Addition To Vaudeville.

For many weeks—as long as the news weekly has been run as the Pantages theatre, Edmonton vaudeville patrons have urged Manager Calvert to go back to the system in vogue until two months ago of presenting film serials instead of current events in motion pictures. Requests by hundreds have been sent to the Pantages by people who greatly prefer the fascinating pastime of following the heroine of a serial through a series of startling exploits rather than watching the unfolding of world events as described, but seldom pictured in the newspapers. There is an inexplicable charm that brings the same folks to a theatre week after week to see the same persons performing on the screen, to watch the villain pursue the heroine, the hero block his devilry at the psychological moment, and so on ad infinitum to the end of fifteen episodes.

Manager George Calvert of the Pantages is going to give his patrons what he promises are fifteen episodes of thrills that will make Charles E. Blaney, Theodore Krammer and all other meller-drammer kings, past and present, writhe in jealousy. "The Fatal Ring" is the title of the serial which opens next Monday afternoon at the Pantages Theatre with "The Violet Diamond" mentioned as the title of the initial installment. Who will play the principal roles? Why, who, of course, but Pearl White will remember here for her work in "The Iron Claw" and "Pearl of the Army." George B. Selig, who writes movie stories compounded of thrills, intrigue and love for a steady living, says he has never written a better serial than "The Fatal Ring," and the trade press, containing Motion Picture News and the Exhibitor's Review, seem inclined to agree unqualifiedly with the author's judgment.

Albert Winston Weaver, director of the Pantages theatre, has prepared a musical program well suited to accompany the serial.

FILM PEOPLE
PASSED THRO'
SUCH SCENES"Types" For "The Badge of Shame" Selected From New York Ghetto.

For one scene of "The Badge of Shame," the Clara Kimball Young picture which comes to the Empress the first three days of next week, the directors engaged several hundred "types" from the New York Ghetto. The scene was a massacre of Jews by a troop of Cossacks, and many of the "extra" people had lived through just such terrible episodes before leaving Russia.

Director Austin had constructed the replicas of a street in Kiev, Russia, on the road near the Fort St. Vrain studio, and grouped his "extra" people in the doorways. Then the Cossacks were ordered to charge down the street. Most of the East Side types were ignorant of what to expect, and when they saw this troop of their ancient enemies swarming down upon them with drawn swords their terror was unassumed. Women who had been separated from their children in arranging the scene screamed and fainted, and the action of the episode was so realistic as to require no rehearsal.

Even after it was all over the directors had difficulty in quieting the terrified East Siders, and two of the Cossacks were roughly handled by a mob of excited men and women for having pretended to knock down and stab some of the children.

MERCEDES COMING TO THE PANTAGES
FOR WEEK SEPT. 3

Mercedes, one of the most remarkable men vaudeville has ever known, comes to the Pantages for the week of Sept. 3, in an act which is an enigma to the scientific world. Mercedes admits among other things that the public may take his act for what they believe it is worth, but as an amusement feature it unquestionably holds a place in the theatrical world second to very few acts of this or any other kind. His thought transference feats are truly remarkable if the comments of critics both East and West may be regarded seriously.

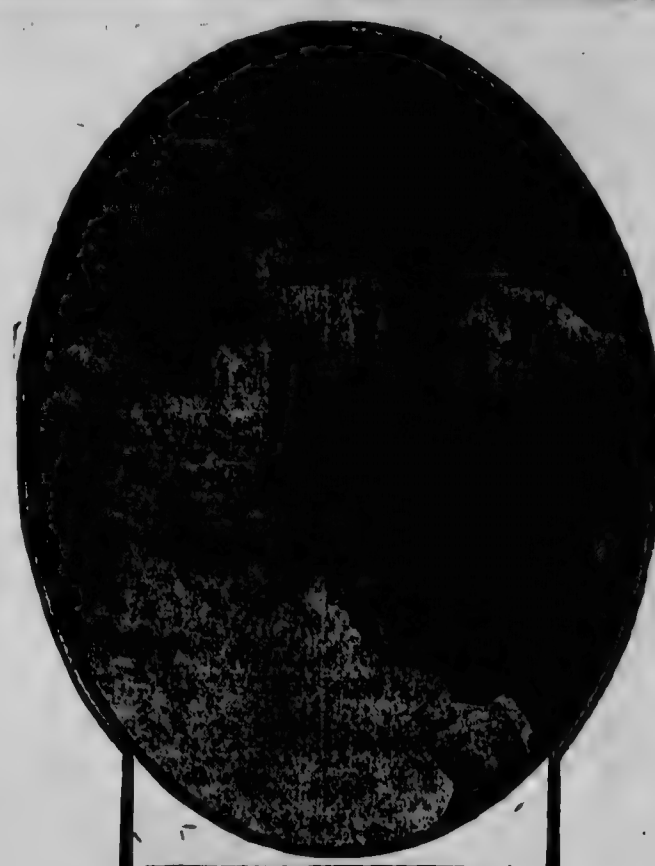

Stomach Cramps
COLIC

These are very painful, and their attacks are often sudden, and sometimes fatal. The principal seat is in the stomach and bowels, producing severe twisting, cramping pain, and often accompanied by vomiting. If you are troubled in this way, there is only one remedy to cure you, and that one is Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. It has a record of cures extending over 12 years, and we have yet to hear of a case where it has failed to either relieve or cure.

Beware of imitations and substitutes sold by unscrupulous dealers for the sake of greater profits, as these no-name, no-reputation, worthless preparations may prove dangerous to your health.

Mrs. H. Miller, 735 Mark St., Fort William, Ont., writes: "Last summer my husband came home from work, and could hardly straighten up for cramps. The first thing I gave him was a dose of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, and I hadn't repeated it very long until he was all right again. It is the only remedy I give my children in the summer for cholera or cramps in the stomach. I have never been without it in the house for the last three years."

PANTAGES

"The Fatal Ring"—Film Serial.
Tom Edwards—England's Greatest Ventriloquist.

There is a fascination about a film serial that the best showmen in the world are unable to solve and account for. All that an audience asks of a serial is that it have continuity, and abundant thrills. The management of the Pantages theatre realizes that pertinent fact and consequently have decided to bring another film serial to this city. The new serial is "The Fatal Ring," featuring Pearl White, who is best known to Edmonton theatre-goers as the girl star who appeared here in "The Iron Claw" and "Pearl of the Army," both Pantages serials. "The Fatal Ring," the first installment of which will be presented on the Pantages screen next week, is in fifteen episodes.

Tom Edwards, the wizard ventriloquist, is said to be the best in his line who has come to America from the other side. That may seem like a pretty big order when Arthur Prince, who is now representing the king on the firing line in France, is considered, but Edwards is said to entirely justify the description of "England's best," which is frequently applied to him. He is assisted in his present act by Miss Alice Melville, a young woman of vocal attainments.

The added attraction on the bill is "The Count and the Maid," which George Choo has sent this way. This act is said to be both tunefully and tastefully put together and boasts of an abundance of pretty girls, songs that linger and pretty costumes. A quartette of brothers and sisters are the four Earls, who present a spectacular offering with the aid of a revolving apparatus. Arthur Silber and Eva North, always welcome here, return, but this time they present what they call "Bashfoolery." Allen Stanley is a singer with a personality.

BILLIE BURKE
IN HER FIRST
PARAMOUNTBeautiful Actress at Monarch In "Mysterious Miss Terry."

Delightful, piquant Billie Burke, in her first Paramount picture, "The Mysterious Miss Terry," which will be shown at the Monarch theatre all next week, is as whimsically charming as ever and from the very first scene that flashes across the screen the picture holds the breathless attention and interest of the spectator.

"The Mysterious Miss Terry" is an adaptation of a story by Gelett Burgess, the well-known author and humorist, and marks his entrance into the field of photoplay writing. His remarkable literary success in the past points to a brilliant future in this line, which is more than justified by his opening production.

Billie Burke, as Mavis Terry, cleverly demonstrates a novel method of finding both happiness and a husband. She goes incognito to a nearby boarding house, where she takes up the life of an ordinary working girl, although she is really an heiress. Here she meets three young men, who promptly fall in love with her. Each of them is poor and struggling for a living, although far superior to the types of idly young men who have known in her former sphere. Finding out the secret ambitions of each, she is able to gratify them, and thus discover which is really worth while and in earnest.

In accomplishing this purpose the determined young heroine involves herself in many thrilling and humorous situations, such as a narrow escape from being arrested for robbing her own house, and later for giving away some of her own gorgeous gowns. Humorous episode and thrilling adventure follow in rapid succession upon the heels of each other until a fascinating and unexpected denouement takes place which clears the atmosphere and gives just the right "happy ending."

MAJESTY

In "The Mesh of Mystery," chapter-eight of "Gloria's Romance," the fabric of romance is woven in strange patterns. Events follow quickly upon the heels of one another. Billie Burke as Gloria, gives a wonderful exhibition of her emotional versatility. Her gracious mannerisms, her alluring beauty, enhanced by gowns of gorgeous elegance, are displayed to their best advantage in this new chapter. The big surprise in "The Adventurer," an Art Drama made from the novel by Upton Sinclair, comes when the supposed crook, played by Pell Trenton, turns out to be the rich man's son, who everyone thought had been murdered. EMPIRE SEASON WILL OPEN SEPT. 3 WITH BIRTH CONTROL PLAY

Officially the Empire theatre will open for the season with a Labor Day matinee on September 3, according to the announcement of Manager E. H. Benson, who sends a wireless from Calgary to the effect that he has arranged for an abundance of high-class attractions for the coming season, the first of which will be "Her Unborn Child," said to be a big play with a serious purpose, which will be presented all of the week of Sept. 3 with daily matinees for women only. The theme of "Her Unborn Child" is birth control, one of the vital questions of the day which is so prominent before the public just now. The author, Howard McKent Barnes, a young American playwright, who has already given theatre-goers a successful drama this season in "The End of a Perfect Day," went deeply into the subject before completing his story, devoting many weeks to research in the laboratories of prominent physicians throughout America. The result is said to be well worthy of the effort, for "Her Unborn Child" is a valuable contribution to stage literature.

SPECIAL CHEF HIRED TO DISGUISE PRUNES
FOR BILLIE BURKE

When asked whether he experienced any serious trouble in filming Billie Burke's Paramount picture, "The Mysterious Miss Terry," director J. Searle Dawley told the following anecdote:

"It seems that Billie Burke as Miss Terry is a resident of a boarding house where, as everyone knows," said Mr. Dawley, "people eat prunes daily with relish. Billie Burke having just returned from the Biltmore where she had lunched, found it impossible to accomplish the feat, and it was necessary to find a substitute for the prunes that would appeal to her epicurean palate as well as resemble the prunes in question closely enough to give the required 'boarding-house atmosphere.' This was done by flavoring a dish of extra quality California peaches with chocolate—a process known only to a most expensive French chef who had to be hired for the purpose." Aside from this, Director Dawley said he had had no difficulty.

MANY CAPABLE BOOK-KEEPERS AND STENOGRAPHERS TRAINED AT ALBERTA COLLEGE NORTH

Since its organization Alberta College, North, has trained a great number of competent bookkeepers and stenographers and placed them over the province. Today the graduates of the college are holding the most prominent positions with the great banks, transportation, manufacturing and wholesale corporations of Western Canada.

The college possesses the highest facilities in preparing students for successful business life. The whole aim of the college is to assist those who are desirous of entering the world of business to obtain that training which will enable them to undertake responsible positions intelligently, and to do those types of work for which there is such a growing demand and for which it is impossible to qualify without a thorough course of technical training.

Alberta college is particularly fortunate in having a most capable and competent staff. Every teacher is a specialist and has come to the college with years of experience. From the standpoint of scholarship, teaching ability and actual business experience, no staff in the west can claim superiority.

To assist in securing the best results the best equipment obtainable is provided. During the past year the college installed twenty-one new Remington and Underwood typewriters and a Burroughs adding machine. Free instruction is given on the adding machine to all commercial students. In the near future it is expected that the college will be able to train dictaphone operators.

In the bookkeeping department the class room is fitted with a bank, the student taking his place as a responsible business proprietor, where all transactions are performed as in actual business, using blank forms of invoices, orders, account sales, notes, cheque deposit slips, etc. By the use of such methods students come to be capable accountants and efficient of financial help, which would be impossible without practical business courses.

The bookkeeping course includes a thorough course in both double and single entry, as well as joint stock bookkeeping. Students who successfully pass the final examination are prepared to take the preliminary examination of the Institute of Chartered Accountants of Alberta.

Four years ago the department of telegraphy was organized. Over 150 students have taken this course, and today the graduates are filling choice positions in the commercial and railway offices of Western Canada. A great many have entered the Dominion government telegraph service. The college gives a complete course in both railway and commercial telegraphy, touch typewriting, the standard railway rules as approved by the railway commission of Canada, and spelling form part of this course. The demand for telegraphers is so great that the Dominion government has given instruction to recruiting officers not to accept any telegraph operators unless special permission is granted by the department of militia.

Today there are unprecedented opportunities for young women to fill the positions vacated by the young men who have gone to the front. Hundreds of young women are required. The college has done its share in meeting this need and has given special courses in banking and bookkeeping to fit young women for business life. These courses have been given to all students registered in the shorthand department.

The college in its endeavor to make its shorthand department the leading school in Western Canada has met with phenomenal success. Here the excellent results are in a large measure due to the thoroughness of the instruction followed by equally careful training in speed practice. The instruction is largely individual.

There was an increase of over 50 per cent in the registration of Alberta College last year. This testifies to the splendid instruction received. During the past year over 250 positions have been filled by competent students of the college. It is almost impossible to keep up with the increasing demand for Alberta College trained help.

A special feature of the work of Alberta College, North, is the attention given to night classes. At night the college has been a hive of activity. In addition to the regular courses in bookkeeping, shorthand, penmanship and typewriting, instruction has been given in telegraphy, the subjects required for civil service and for matriculation to the University of Alberta.

The college opens September 4th, and from present indications the enrollment promises to be the greatest in the history of the college.

and Gossip

LOCALLY the event of the week so far as labor is concerned is the decision of the city council to increase the pay of laborers by five cents per hour, from 30 to 35 cents per hour. It was satisfactory to note the unanimous manner in which the proposal was handled by council, not a dissentient voice being raised, one member remarking that if times were propitious he would like to raise the wages of all the employees. The previous amount secured by day laborers for an eight-hour day was $2.40, and when the point was raised by Ald. Kinnear the other members agreed that with prices at their present inflated condition, this amount was insufficient for any man with a family. If coal goes up to $7 per ton, such as rumor says may not be impossible, even with increases of wages the struggle is going to be a hard one this winter for many households. The number of laborers employed by the city now is nothing like as great as some time ago, but it constitutes a large portion of the common labor in the city and the five cents increase will help considerably.

CONSIDERATION of the agreement between the street railway men and the city council has now been commenced, and judging from the tone of the meeting this week between the Utilities committee and the delegation from the street railway men it seems that the arrival at an amicable arrangement may not be a prolonged matter this year. Considering the condition of the city finances it is highly desirable that this result should be arrived at without government intervention. A good start has been made, however, and this should go a long way to a harmonious settlement. The men stated that the chief reasons for the increases asked for—mainly the high cost of living. On the other hand the committee—as members of the council have done before—expressed the opinion that they are not unfavorable to civic employees being given more wages, the great problem is to find the money for the pay-roll. So far, there does not seem any doubt that the problem is in sight, but it is thought that with some further discussion a decision may be arrived at with regard to the agreement.

THE complaint of the Trades and Labor Council to the city council that the union carpenters in the city were treated unfairly in connection with work at the exhibition grounds this year has been referred to the exhibition board for consideration. The city council thought that primarily the matter was one for the exhibition board to deal with without interference or comment by council. It was pointed out that if the reply given by the exhibition board was not satisfactory or the Trades and Labor Council considered that they still had a just cause for complaint, that they could afterwards bring the subject to council, when there would be representations from both sides to aid in a decision.

IT is pleasing to be able to announce that another addition has been made to the already large number of locals in the city. This is the Stereotypers and Electrotypers, No. 129. Which has just come into existence. With the improvement of newspaper production in the city there is an increase in the branches of the printing trade employed. It is the representatives from each of the branches of the industry combined in the newspaper and commercial printing offices of the city which makes up the local Allied Printing Trades council. Previous to organizing the Edmonton stereotypers were under the jurisdiction of the Calgary local. With the installation of more modern presses and plant in the local newspaper offices, sufficient men are now employed to hold a local charter. It was therefore decided that a charter should be applied for, and it has been granted. With its receipt a meeting was held and officers elected, the following being chosen: President, Fred Goodall; vice-president, Ambrose; secretary, W. D. Tinner. This new local strengthens organized labor in the city, and its affiliation adds to the importance of the Edmonton Trades and Labor council.

A SPECIAL meeting of the Labor Representation league is announced to take place on Monday evening, August 27th, and should prove a specially interesting event. The main business of the league is the nomination for federal and municipal elections. It seems a little early for this business, especially the municipal elections, but the members of the league say that they mean to get on the job early, so that their campaign will not suffer by hurried organization. The meeting will take place at the Labor hall, 101st street.

IT is anticipated that before long that the Edmonton carpenters will give indication that the union rate of wages has been increased. In most of the western towns and cities the rate of wages for carpenters has been advanced, and Edmonton is practically the last on the list to stay the old figure. At Winnipeg the rate has been advanced to 35 cents per hour, and at Calgary it is 60 cents per hour, while in Edmonton it so far remains 50 cents. The old agreement with the carpenters was made with the Builder's Exchange in the city, but as this institution is non-existent, it is probable that an announcement will be made that on all union jobs in the city carpenters will ask for increased rate. It is suggested that Edmonton should be brought into line with Calgary in this respect.

A GAIN referring to the street railwaymen's agreement it is interesting to compare the wages paid under the last agreement to the street railway employees at Edmonton and the wages now paid at Calgary. The scale at Edmonton under the last agreement as follows: motormen and conductors, 26 cents per hour; second six months, 28.5 cents per hour; commencing second year, 32 cents per hour; commencing third year and thereafter 34 cents; operator of one-man car to be paid 40 cents per hour. At Calgary the scale is: Motormen and conductors (two men cars) first year, 32 cents; third six months, 33 cents; fourth six months, 34 cents; fifth six months, 35 cents; sixth six months, 36 cents; seventh six months, 37 cents. Motormen and conductors (one man cars): first year, 37 cents per hour; then afterwards 38 cents, 39 cents, 40 cents, 41 cents and 42 cents for the same graduated periods of service as operators of two-men cars. At both cities time-and-a-half is allowed for holidays.

Advance in Milk Prices

Owing to the increased cost of every item which enters into the dairy business, it has become necessary to Advance Prices. The following Prices are effective, beginning Aug. 25, 1917

MILK, 12c per quart; 9 quart tickets for $1.00.

SUPERIOR, 12c per pint, 24c per quart; 9 cream tickets for $1.00.

CREAM, 12c per cup, 24c per pint, 40c per quart; 9 half-pint tickets for $1.00.

WHIPPING CREAM, 17c per cup, 30c per pint, 60c per quart.

BUTTERMILK, 6c per quart, or half ticket; 20c per gallon.

The increase in price of milk and cream has been very modest as compared with flour, meat, sugar, and other staples, in the last three years. It remains as the food that gives the customer best value for the money.

"Buy and use liberally the best milk obtainable, even at a price of 15 to 20 cents per quart," says Prof. Sherman of Columbia University; and also, "A quart of milk a day for every child is a good rule, easy to remember."

ALBERTA COLLEGE HAS LARGEST BEST EQUIPPED CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC IN WESTERN CANADA.

The Music Department and School of Expression of Alberta College will open Saturday, September 1st, and already the prospects for the new college term has exceeded the utmost expectations of the management. Alberta College has always stood for the best in scholarship and efficiency. The great number who, year after year, are successful in passing the musical examinations held by the different examining boards at the college, and the large number holding instrumental and vocal positions throughout the province give ample testimony of the thoroughness of the training received at Alberta College.

The past year was the most successful in the history of the college, nearly seven hundred being enrolled in the music and expression department. A great many students were successful in passing the tests prescribed by the University of Toronto, the Toronto Conservatory of Music, the Royal College of Music and Royal Academy of Music, London, England, besides taking no less than six gold medals at the 1917 Musical Festival.

The music staff comprises most of Edmonton's leading musicians and additional appointments will be made as the gradual increasing number of students makes necessary.

The school of expression for the North Side College is under the direction of Ethel Reese-Burns, A.T.C.M., while the expression work of the South Side College will be under the direction of Miss Gertrude Trotter, A.T.C.M. The work of these teachers is well known throughout the city and province.

Pupils wishing to take lessons should by all means take their work at an accredited school where thoroughness and efficiency characterize all the work. The teachers will be pleased to have all prospective pupils arrange for lessons at their earliest convenience, for it may be difficult to give lessons at satisfactory hours for those who are attending the various public and high schools of the city.

BUYING WHEAT

Agents Take All Offered in Best
Grades at Winnipeg Exchange.

FUTURES WERE FIRMER

New Wheat Appeared On Inspection Report For First Time.

Winnipeg, Aug. 24.—Only numbers 1, 2 and 3 northern grades of wheat were in demand today in the cash market. The agents, millers and shippers taking all the wheat offered. Offerings of the lower qualities were fewer than in the past few days but there was little sale for them.
There was a better sale for cash oats and prices were fractionally higher than yesterday. Offerings were not large. Barley displayed strong. The inquiry was better. Cash flax was in good demand and prices showed a slight improvement.

In the future market October wheat opened three cents higher than yesterday at 21¢ and was bid up to 22¢ during the session. The activity is probably due to squaring up of transactions before August 31.

Fair business was done with the oat futures with quotations steady around yesterday's final. In flax, trading was confined to the October contract. The opening was from 2¢ to 4¢ higher than Thursday's close, and was bid up to 20¢ shortly before the end of the session. October oats closed 3-5¢ lower; December 4¢ lower, May 4¢ lower.
October flax closed 1¢ higher, November 12¢ higher, December 8¢ higher.

New wheat appeared on the inspection report for the first time today. Six cars were reported, all grading one northern.
One car of new crop barley also was reported yesterday. Last year the first new wheat was graded on August 10.
There was no bid or opening in Winnipeg October up till 10 o'clock. Winnipeg flax opened unchanged to 4¢ up for October at 20¢ to 21¢. December was unchanged at 20¢.

There were bids of 33¢ for October flax and 35¢ for October oats but there was no official opening.

No quotations were received from the American market during the first half hour of the session.

There were 58 cars inspected at Winnipeg out of which only 25 cars were reported. There was six cars of this season's No. 1 Northern, also one car of new barley.

The weather over the west was generally fair and clear. Rain was reported at Edmonton. Winnipeg reports 62.
